MAN FOUND MURDERED IN WOODS IN COUNTY

Charles Jones, 68-Year-Old Barber Left Home With Stranger Who Asked Him to Play Violin at Dance Tomorrow Night.

BULLET WOUNDS IN THE BODY

Brother Discovers Crime Near Fee Fee Road and Creve Coeur Line After Learning Victim Is Missing.

Charles Jones, 68-year-old barber, was shot and killed and his body left in a sparsely settled section of St. Louis County near Fee Fee road and the Creve Coeur car line last night. A man and a woman were held at Clayton for questioning today.

Jones left his home at Midland and Cumberland avenues, Maryland Heights, at 8:30 o'clock last night after a young man called at the house and asked him to play a violin at a dance tomorrow night. The barber frequently played at informal dances and relatives, with whom he made his home, saw nothing unusual in the request made by the stranger.

Asked to Leave House. The man came to a rear door and inquired for Jones, who was in the kitchen chatting with his sister and brother-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Dailey. The stranger stood in the doorway as he talked with the barber about the dance to be held "at the bottom of the hill at the lake."

According to Mrs. Dailey, the caller at first wanted to borrow Jones' violin. He then asked Jones to play for the dance, remarking, "Come out to the car and talk it over with the boys."

Jones left the house in his shirt sleeves and a few minutes later Mr. and Mrs. Dailey heard a machine start up. When the barber did not return they were not alarmed, as they presumed he had gone away to complete arrangements for the playing engagement.

Body Found in Woods. The body was found at 8 o'clock this morning in a woods adjoining a baseball diamond in Maryland Heights by Sug Jones, a brother of the dead man. Sug Jones, who lives on Fee Fee road, a quarter of a mile from the baseball diamond, told officers that at 10 o'clock last night, while he was driving toward his home, he saw a machine back into a private road, which skirts the baseball diamond. The home of another brother, Thomas Jones, is on the private road.

Sug Jones, believing the persons in the machine were trying to locate his brother's home, watched and saw the machine depart in a few minutes. This morning, when notified that his brother, Charles, was missing, Sug Jones and his son, Henry, drove to the baseball diamond and found the body after a brief search.

Examination disclosed Jones had been shot in the right side of the chest and in the face. The lips were powder-burned. The bullet in the head had lodged behind the right ear. The second bullet passed out through Jones' back.

No Weapon Found. When found the body was lying face down, with the right arm extended over his head. On the body was a short distance away, apparently having slipped off when the body was dragged from the machine. No weapon was found at the scene, which is a mile east of the Dailey home.

Mr. and Mrs. Dailey said they were at a loss to account for the slaying, as Jones never had mentioned having enemies. They described the caller as being about 21 years old, dark, 5 feet 6 inches tall and weighing about 165 pounds. He wore dark clothes. The machine made considerable noise when it was driven away. Sug Jones said the car he saw in the private road appeared to be an old sedan, with a spotlight.

Jones conducted a shop on Dorset road in Maryland Heights. He was of slight build and gray-haired. His wife, Mrs. Elsie Jones, who is lame, lives in the 1400 block of Hodiadon avenue with two of their sons and a daughter. The body was taken to Baumann Bros' mortuary, in Overland, where an inquest will be held.

LILYAN TASHMAN DIES, HAD BEEN ILL A YEAR

Actress Succumbs in New York Hospital, Wife of Edmund Lowe.

NEW YORK, March 21.—Lilyan Tashman, motion picture actress, died this afternoon at Doctors' Hospital, after an illness which had lasted a year and became acute March 18. She was the wife of Edmund Lowe.

A. J. Gertenbach, directing manager of the hospital, announced that the death had been caused by "an advanced tuberculous condition" which had necessitated an emergency operation shortly after she was admitted to the hospital. Hospital records gave her age as 34 years.

An announcement by the hospital paid tribute to Miss Tashman's tenacity in carrying on her moving picture work despite the seriousness of her condition.

On her last day in pictures, the hospital announcement said, Miss Tashman remained on the set from 7 o'clock in the morning until midnight in order that she might finish the production. She was hurrying because she feared her strength would not last.

With Lowe she went to Connecticut several weeks ago, hoping to recuperate her strength, but her condition became worse and the operation was necessary. It was only a "palliative procedure," hospital officials said, and she succumbed at 2:15 o'clock this afternoon.

Last October Miss Tashman underwent an emergency operation for appendicitis at the Harbor Sanatorium here. It was necessary to administer oxygen to revive her afterwards.

Included among her principal pictures are (in 1933) "Wiser Ben," "Those We Love," and "Scarlet Dawn"; (1932) "Mama Loves Papa," "Too Much Harmony," and "Wine, Women and Song."

BUDAPEST, Hungary, March 21.—The newspaper Reggelji Ujsag today said Patsy Ruth Miller, American film actress, would marry Jeno Csapregy, 24-year-old Hungarian student. Federal Judge Paris today decided that eight directors of the closed Vandeventer National Bank, who held their 720 shares of the bank's stock through the medium of a holding company, were nevertheless individually liable to the bank, and must pay the bank's receiver $80,000 each.

The suit, which he decided in favor of the receiver, Joseph F. Holland, was that filed by Holland against the Metropolitan Holding Co., Inc., J. B. Corby, Max Lippmann, L. E. Dorr, Edgar L. Miche, W. B. Knight, W. N. Matthews, James A. Wolford and Rhodes E. Cave, a former Circuit Judge.

Judge Paris fixed the liability of the defendants, according to their holdings of stock in the holding company and with interest from March 21, 1932, as follows:

Lippmann, Dorr and Miche, 110 shares each, $15,562.65 each.

Corby, Cave, Knight and Matthews, 55 shares each, $7781.20 each.

Wolford, 20 shares, $2827.18. The national banking law makes stockholders of a national bank liable for double the amount of their subscriptions. The defendants have already suffered the loss of their subscriptions of stock, and the judgment is for an equal additional amount, with interest.

Regarding the plea that individual liability of stockholders in a national bank could be avoided through ownership by a holding company, the court said:

"If such a company could be formed to escape liability, then the (banking) statute is a nullity. It would be necessary only for the organizers of a bank to form a holding company, of which all the assets would be the stock of the bank, and no assessment could be made, because all the company's assets would be worthless before an assessment became necessary."

The formation of the eight defendants was that the bank was not insolvent when the holding company was organized and the stock transferred to it, and that they individually had no knowledge that more than $600,000 of the bank's assets had been criticized by bank examiners, or that the capital was impaired. To this, Judge Paris replied that as directors of the bank, it was their duty to be aware of its condition.

Judge Paris conceded that "the evidence nowhere showed that any of the defendants had said the company was organized for the purpose of evading the terms of the statute," but added, "It was not to be expected that, if this was the purpose, they would shirk it from the housepots."

The receiver, in his suit, sought to hold the defendants jointly liable for $72,000 plus interest, on the 720 shares of stock held in the name of the holding company. Judge Paris, however, held that the liability was an individual one, in each case.

PRESIDENT WILL TRY TO PREVENT AUTO STRIKE

Discusses Situation With Senator Couzens Who Says Roosevelt Has a Plan to Submit.

HAS CONFERENCE WITH EMPLOYERS

Separate Talk Tomorrow With Representatives of Labor Leaders, Who Have Postponed Walkout

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, March 21.—President Roosevelt conferred this afternoon with representatives of automobile manufacturers in an attempt to adjust the labor dispute in this industry and prevent a strike. Eight spokesmen of the auto manufacturers who have been resisting unionization of their plants by the American Federation of Labor went into the White House conference room. They left late in the afternoon.

Couzens Sees President. Senator Couzens (Rep.), Michigan, said today, after conferring with President Roosevelt, that the Chief Executive had a proposal to offer.

President Roosevelt will confer separately tomorrow with the representatives of automobile labor who have threatened a strike.

Pending tomorrow's conference, the President will ask the manufacturers to remain in the city.

Mr. Roosevelt today sent word to William Collins, American Federation of Labor representative in Detroit, that he would be willing to have the 13 separate unions represented at tomorrow's conference.

The labor program is to narrow demands to a request for a neutral review board to pass on charges of discrimination against union men and to the immediate selection of employee representatives for collective bargaining.

A general strike had been set for 9 a. m. today, but the labor leaders have acceded to the President's request for a delay.

Collins, after announcing in Detroit that 50 union delegates had voted unanimously for the President's plan, said: "If no satisfactory agreement is reached at the Washington conference, they can go ahead with their strike. I am hopeful that the President will accomplish what the Recovery Act and its administrators evidently have failed to do."

The union men's demands are not so much concerned with hours and pay as with recognition. Their demands include a plebiscite of workers on the company union issue and reinstatement of men alleged to have been dismissed for union activity. They also demand that they deal with the American Federation of Labor, declaring it is "trying to get control of this industry."

It is estimated a strike might affect 250,000 persons in such manufacturing plants as Detroit, Flint, Pontiac and Lansing, Mich., and Cleveland, O., and perhaps St. Louis.

BANK EX-OFFICER FREE ON BOND ON SHORTAGE CHARGE

Harry R. Callicott of Southwest Depository Surrenders and Posts $10,000 Bail.

ACCUSED OF MISUSING $7280

Alleged to Have Made False Entry in Connection With Real Estate Mortgage Deal.

By the Associated Press.

Harry R. Callicott, until recently assistant cashier of the Southwest Bank, 2301 South Kingshighway, surrendered today on a warrant charging him with misapplying funds in violation of the national banking act. He was released on $10,000 bond.

A shortage of about $13,000 was discovered in the accounts of Callicott, who was note teller of the bank and who engaged in several real estate transactions with acquaintances.

Callicott is charged specifically with making a false entry in the bank's books and misapplying funds obtained as a result of the false entry. The amount involved is $7280. The penalty for the offense is a prison term of not more than five years, a fine of not more than $2000, or both.

Officers of the bank declined to discuss the charge other than to point out that the bank was protected by a $100,000 surety bond and that any loss as a result of Callicott's actions would be sustained by the surety company.

Assistant District Attorney Crooks, who issued the warrant after an investigation by the Department of Justice, said he had been informed that Callicott introduced a customer of the bank to a real estate dealer, who sold the customer a second deed of trust for $7280.

When the deed of trust came due, Crooks said he was told, it was not paid, and the bank customer thereupon threatened the real estate dealer and Callicott, who had introduced him to the dealer.

Callicott and the real estate dealer tried to refinance the deal of trust, Crooks said, and failed. The bank customer, who owed the bank $16,800, demanded that Callicott refund his account with $7280, and Callicott did so.

Crooks said that he had been told that Callicott's transactions totaled $24,000 but investigators believe that only $16,800 was repaid.

Callicott is married and had been employed by the bank since 1923.

Gen. Hugh S. Johnson, administrator, was listed at $7060, the salary at which most of the deputy administrators serve. Francis M. Robinson, secretary, was listed as assistant to the administrator, with a salary of $6800.

Johnson's son, Kilbourne, was reported as serving without salary. An official, M. S. Johnston, listed as impartial presidential representative, was reported at $7060.

Auto Wrecked, Chauffeur Hurt; Goering at First Reported to Be Object of Attack.

By the Associated Press. BERLIN, March 21.—A bombing, at first reported to be an attempt on the life of Premier Hermann Wilhelm Goering of Prussia, police said today, was directed at David Oliver, Jewish owner of a motion picture theater.

Oliver's automobile—not a taxi, as at first reported—was wrecked by the bomb.

Oliver, an Austrian citizen, has resided in Berlin 25 years. He owns the Capital Theater where the film "Catherine the Great" was recently displayed, causing anti-Jewish disturbances, which resulted in its withdrawal. Oliver's chauffeur was seriously injured by the explosion.

DAIRY PRODUCTION CONTROL PLAN ISSUED

Payment by Processing Tax Proposed for 15 Pct. Cut in Output.

By the Associated Press.

Chester C. Davis, Farm Administrator, today announced details of the proposed production control program for dairy farmers.

The chief features include: Reduction by individual farmers of 15 per cent of their milk and butterfat production from their 1932-1933 total and the appropriation of $5,000,000 for relief distribution of surplus milk to underfed children in cities.

Other provisions: Transfer of healthy cows from surplus areas to farm families in deficit areas and use of a $5,000,000 fund for the eradication of tubercular and banj diseased cattle.

The program is estimated to cost between $185,000,000 and $300,000,000, depending on adoption of pending legislation in Congress.

A processing tax starting at 1 cent a pound on butterfat and advancing to 5 cents a pound is proposed to finance the program.

Farmers would receive benefit payments at the rate of about 40 cents for each pound of butterfat which they reduced below their 1932-1933 production. This is equivalent to about $150 a hundred pounds of fluid milk.

REVISED MARKET BILL DEFENDED BY TOM K. SMITH

St. Louis Banker at House Hearing Says Dangers to Recovery Have Been Minimized.

TREASURY IN ACCORD WITH OBJECTIVES

Pecora Replying to Whitney Asserts He Is Seeing Ghosts in Attack on Altered Measure.

By the Associated Press. WASHINGTON, March 21.—A Treasury spokesman told the House Interstate Commerce Committee today the stock exchange control bill has been "so revised as to minimize" any danger of delaying business recovery. Tom K. Smith, St. Louis banker, now assistant to Secretary Morgenthau who supervised the Treasury study which resulted in revision of the original bill, was the witness.

"I was requested to study the bill to ascertain whether certain of its provisions might have a needlessly adverse effect upon the Government's financing operations or upon the financial structure of the country," Smith said.

He said that as a result of this study and "numerous suggestions and changes most of which have been incorporated in the bill, I believe that for the most part the matters about which we were principally concerned have been corrected by these changes."

Testimony that President Roosevelt restricted the Treasury Department study of the bill was given by Smith.

The witness also said the Department did not wish to express approval or disapproval of the legislation.

The only phases of the bill which the President directed the Treasury to study, Smith testified, were those relating to banking, Government financing and the financial structure of the country. The Treasury had nothing to do with the margin rate requirements inserted into the measure, Smith said.

Chairman Rayburn of the committee said opponents would be heard, but that "hearings will be closed this week, that's certain."

Asked if the Treasury would be asked to pass on margin and speculation regulatory provisions, Rayburn told newsmen that it was "up to the Treasury to accept the responsibility." It was the demand of both Republicans and Democrats that forced Rayburn to open the hearings to opponents.

In Full Accord. Smith said "the Treasury is in full accord" with the major objectives of the bill which he said appeared to be:

"To establish Federal supervision over securities exchanges; to prevent manipulation of security prices and to protect the public against unfair practices; to prevent excessive fluctuations in security prices due to speculative influences; to discourage the use of credit in the financing of excessive speculation in securities."

In addition to examining the bill's possible effect on Government financing operations, Smith said:

"The enactment of any regulatory measure of this scope affects so many different people and activities that it is difficult to foresee all of its possible consequences. Therefore I have also seriously considered whether the provisions of the bill which affects Government financing and the financial structure of the country might operate to delay or obstruct business recovery."

A Hasty Study. "I believe that the language of these sections of the bill has been so revised as to minimize this danger."

"Our study has necessarily been somewhat hurried and we should, of course, hope to have the privilege of submitting to the committee any further suggestions that may occur to us after we have had more time to study the bill."

Criticism of Richard Whitney, president of the New York Stock Exchange, of the revised bill was answered last night by Ferdinand Pecora, Senate Banking Committee counsel, with the assertion that he did not believe the objections were sincere.

In a statement contending the new measure was just as objectionable as the old, Whitney said: "This new bill will have as serious effects upon the security mar-

Chicago Club's $1,000,000 Wallpaper

HARRY J. DOHERTY, MANAGER of the Union League Club, papering a room with the most expensive wallpaper in the world. The gold certificates he is using had a face value of $1,000,000 in 1929. Much of the paper was provided by Samuel Insull.

As the original Fletcher-Rayburn bill. In my opinion it will inevitably bring about declining prices and will interfere with and delay the economic recovery of the nation.

"This bill is destructive and not constructive."

Asserting that if all of Whitney's objections were met there would be no bill at all, Pecora observed:

"No Scarecrow, He Says. 'This bill does not seek to enact the social philosophy of any special group. It seeks rather to make certain that the wildcat speculation which was fostered and encouraged by the New York Stock Exchange prior to October, 1929, and the results of which were so harmful as to dislocate American industry and to throw 13,000,000 breadwinners out of employment, will not again afflict our people and imperil their prosperity.'

"The American business man who reads this bill with an honest and open mind will not shiver with fright at the scarecrows and ghosts which Whitney pretends to see."

"Whitney still maintains that the Federal Trade Commission is vested with the power of domination over commerce and industry, by virtue of the provisions of the bill requiring corporations whose securities are listed to file quarterly reports and one annual independently audited statement," said Pecora. "On this point Whitney speaks an arrant nonsense. As a matter of fact, Whitney in the past has frequently boasted that the New York Stock Exchange has sought to compel corporations listed on the New York Stock Exchange to change to make such periodic reports to the Exchange. This provision will make successful and effective the worthy policy of giving adequate and current information to stockholders and investors."

Whitney's Point of View. Whitney had said: "It is apparent from even a hasty reading of the new bill that its underlying purpose is to carry out the social theories of those who believe that the Federal Government should control not only credit and the operation of stock exchanges, but also all commerce and industry."

The committee for the nation in a statement went on record against the bill.

"The bill in its original form and in the revision, said the statement, 'seriously undermines traditional American credit and corporate institutions. It will jeopardize their efficient functioning in the future. It is not merely a bill to regulate changes, but its essence, in the light of the analysis of the National Industrial Conference Board, lies in the extension of bureaucratic Government control over private and corporate businesses."

"It weakens the influence of the stockholder and investor and retains, in this second draft, the harmful features of the first."

VILLAGE FREE OF TAXES DUE TO MUNICIPAL PLANT

Skaneateles, N. Y., Has $98,288 in Cash on Hand; Has Owned Light System 34 Years.

By the Associated Press. SKANEATELES, N. Y., March 21.—Free of municipal taxes since 1931, this village has $98,288 on hand in cash and owns $48,000 of its own bonds, its total outstanding indebtedness, according to the treasurer's report.

Largely responsible for the showing is the Municipal Electric Light Bureau which last year, its thirty-fourth year of operation, increased net earnings and began 1934 with $49,321 in cash on hand in addition to having a plant, debt free, inventoried at $109,237.12. This plant lights the city streets, maintaining 240 lamps.

In 1931, the village levied a corporation tax amounting to $35,000, but since that time the earnings of the light and power plant and its waterworks have been sufficient to add to a good-sized surplus in addition to taking care of administration expenses, says the report.

Skaneateles, incorporated in 1815, is at the head of Skaneateles Lake, one of New York State's famous finger lakes. Its population in 1930 was 1882.

BORAH DECLARES THAT STEEL CODE UNDERMINES NRA

Asks for Its Complete Redrafting and for Immediate Restoration of Anti-Trust Laws.

By the Associated Press. WASHINGTON, March 21.—Senator Borah (Rep., Idaho), in the Senate today said the steel code was "undermining the NRA" and urged its complete redrafting, as well as restoration of the anti-trust laws, to protect the small business men and consumers against "economic feudalism."

Calling attention to the Trade Commission report saying the steel code was under the domination of the big producers and price fixing was being indulged in, Borah said there was a "restlessness through the entire labor world" and "this restlessness will manifest itself more generally as time goes on unless these things are remedied."

Assailing what he called monopolistic tendencies under the NRA, he said whenever there was a rise in the price of labor or wages these "combinations and monopolies take away from the workers all possible advantages by reason of the rise in wages."

Wants Anti-Trust Laws Restored. Borah urged an immediate committee report on his proposal to restore the operation of the anti-trust laws and said this would "in no wise conflict with a fair execution of the National Recovery Act."

"Congress should restore the anti-trust law," he said, "to enable this administration to law to enforce it against just such things as revealed in this commission report."

He said the small business man was being eliminated under recovery codes and "under color of the law."

"This is also a matter of supreme concern to the consumer," he added, "because we shall find as we go forward with these investigations that the consumer is being utilized for food, clothing and home building are all now subjected to monopolistic prices and control."

Some of the NRA support, he asserted, came from business control of the NRA, "as we shall find as we go forward with these investigations that the consumer is being utilized for food, clothing and home building are all now subjected to monopolistic prices and control."

Attacks "Pittsburgh Plus." "Pittsburgh Plus," Borah read from Pacific Coast firms, indicating they were forced to pay the equivalent of freight charges from Pittsburgh on steel made on the coast.

The steel code authority, he charged, is dictated by the large companies.

Borah likened the large and small manufacturers under the steel code to a snake killing a pig in a cage.

"The minute the independent business man touches the interest of the larger combine he is put out of business," he said, adding: "What is not only economically unsound and undermining efforts at recovery—it is cruel, it is inhuman, it is economic feudalism."

Borah said a small business man under the code had no chance because "back of it all is a board of directors made up of officials of the Steel Institute and with the power of initiative."

OWA PAINTERS AT CITY HALL, MUNICIPAL COURTS, STRIKE

Union Leader Gives Reasons for Walkout; Director Attributes It to Discharge of Foreman.

Director of Public Safety Chadsy, under whose supervision the work was being done, said today that L. M. Raftery, business agent of the local painters' union, had given him three reasons for calling the strike.

First, the complaint that Negro labor had been used in putting up scaffolding in the rotunda of the City Hall; second, that the non-union workmen had been employed to polish furniture in the basement of the City Hall; and third, that non-union men had been employed to work on the roof in connection with the embellishment of the skylight.

Chadsy said that he thought the real reason for the trouble was the discharge on Monday of Charles Emig, painters' foreman, whose dismissal, Chadsy said, was requested by J. O. Garber, assistant director of the CWA program in St. Louis. Chadsy said Garber gave him no reason for Emig's dismissal.

Garber said today that Emig's dismissal had been based on the recommendation of the local office of the United States Department of Labor, following an investigation. He declined, however, to discuss the subject further, other than to say there were "good reasons" for the dismissal.

A few hours later W. F. Thiehoff, chairman of the Conference Committee of Railroad Managers, told the White House his group was willing to accept the services of Eastman to aid in composing the differences.

Whitney repeated labor's demand for a restoration of the old pay scale and an increase of 10 per cent on July 1. The workers have been under a 10 per cent cut in pay since 1932.

The Whitney letter said: "We share your disappointment that agreement has not been reached disposing of this controversy, however, the economic plight of the employees does not allow them to submit to the demands of the carriers."

"We accept your proffer of the services of the Federal Coordinator of Transportation, Joseph B. Eastman."

Nothing to Be Gained. In a letter to Thiehoff, Whitney concluded: "It is evident that nothing can be gained at this time by further discussions between our respective committees."

President Roosevelt appealed to both sides yesterday to break their deadlock and settle the controversy for the good of the country. He said that if necessary he would appoint a commission to investigate the controversy.

Thiehoff replied almost immediately with an offer to withdraw the roads, request for a new 5 per cent pay cut on July 1 in addition to the existing reductions of 10 per cent if labor would agree to certain conditions.

Points of Disagreement. Thiehoff suggested letting the present wage scale continue to such a time after January 1 next as might be necessary for determination of a proper wage scale.

The labor group contended this would result in a situation leaving the way open for indefinite postponement of the pay cut restoration. In an ultimatum to the managers before the President's appeal the union groups had demanded full restoration and an additional 10 per cent increase on July 1.

That ultimatum also contained the charge many skilled rail workers received less than NRA minimum pay and the President, in his letter, appeal to Whitney and Thiehoff, told the latter this situation should be adjusted at once.

Other Costs Brought In. Thiehoff, in his reply, agreed to discuss these low wages, but stipulated that in determining how much such workers received the worth of food, lodging, light, heat, and other items furnished by the employers be taken into account, as well as gratuities. This suggestion raised a storm of protest from the labor group, Whitney contending that by such a system it could be made to seem the workers got more than NRA minimum whereas in fact they got far less.

The President has sent identical letters to Thiehoff and Whitney. He declared both sides seemed to have disregarded the good of the country.

EASTMAN CHOSEN AS WAGE ARBITER IN RAIL DISPUTE

At Roosevelt's Suggestion Managers and Employees Agree to Submit Question to Him.

By the Associated Press. WASHINGTON, March 21.—Railway managers and employees agreed today to submit their wage dispute to arbitration by Joseph B. Eastman, Federal railroad coordinator, as proposed by President Roosevelt. Eastman made plans for conferences tomorrow.

Temporary solution of the railway wage controversy was reported to Roosevelt by representatives of the two groups.

A. F. Whitney, chairman of the Railway Labor Executives' Association, earlier in the day in a letter to Roosevelt had accepted the services of Eastman after rejecting suggestions for a continuation of the existing 10 per cent pay cut agreement.

A few hours later W. F. Thiehoff, chairman of the Conference Committee of Railroad Managers, told the White House his group was willing to accept the services of Eastman to aid in composing the differences.

33 KILLED AND 68 INJURED IN ANOTHER RUSSIAN WRECK

Fourth Railroad Smashup in Month Reported From Sverdlovsk; Trainmen Put on Trial.

MOSCOW, March 21.—Thirty-three persons were killed and 68 injured in the wreck of two trains near Sverdlovsk nine days ago, word of which has just become public.

A local passenger train, traveling at high speed, ran through a closed semaphore at the station at Tsvetnoi, and collided with a freight train. Eight cars were smashed and both locomotives were wrecked.

This was the fourth such wreck within a month. Details of the Sverdlovsk wreck became known when trainmen accused of responsibility for it were put on trial.

Two engineers on a Moscow suburban line were sentenced to death yesterday for the wreck of their train March 4, in which 50 persons were killed.

In the struggle for their own interests. He offered the conferees the services of Joseph B. Eastman, Federal Coordinator of Transportation, as advisor if they desired such help.

Asserting active prosecution of the wage controversy at this time would have "a most disturbing and unfortunate influence," the President concluded by strongly urging further efforts to reach an agreement "for the good of the country."

Some predicted the Chicagoan-at-large would not put in here for days, if at all. They pointed out his ship is reported to have been fueled and provisioned for a 40-day cruise. He might remain at sea a month without touching at any port while his lawyers negotiate for some refuge.

WANDERING INSULT DODGES PORT SAID

Senate Passes Bill to Get Fugitive Where U. S. Has Extra-Territorial Rights.

By the Associated Press. WASHINGTON, March 21.—The Senate today passed and sent to the House a bill designed to prevent Samuel Insull from avoiding extradition to the United States by authorizing removal to this country of American fugitives from justice from places where this country exercises extra-territorial rights. Unscrupulous Insull, who has been in and out of the United States for years, is a national in those countries according to American law.

The measure was reported from the Foreign Relations Committee by Senator Robinson, the Democratic leader. Robinson said the bill would prevent Insull, although he did not mention the utilities magnate by name, from seeking a haven in Mediterranean ports where the United States has extra-territorial privileges.

By the Associated Press. PORT SAID, Egypt, March 21.—Samuel Insull, fugitive utility man, continued to play hide and seek with the world today.

The little ship on which he is traveling no one knows where. He is reported to have expected last night. There was no news of it today.

Port authorities maintained a lookout throughout the night for the American and his chartered freighter, the Maitia. No message has been received direct from the tramp steamer on which he is seeking a new asylum from extradition and trial in connection with the fall of his utilities structure.

Authorities at this approach to the Suez Canal were prepared to receive the Maitia as they would any other vessel.

It was thought unlikely that officials would attempt to take Insull off the Maitia at any port or near the Suez Canal. The vessel is Greek territory. It Insull goes ashore, however, a new problem will be raised.

Some predicted the Chicagoan-at-large would not put in here for days, if at all. They pointed out his ship is reported to have been fueled and provisioned for a 40-day cruise. He might remain at sea a month without touching at any port while his lawyers negotiate for some refuge.

By the Associated Press. LOS ANGELES, Cal., March 21.—Mr. and Mrs. Otto L. Langhans, parents of Mary Astor, movie actress, filed suit for maintenance in Superior Court here yesterday against the actress.

They declared they were without funds and unable to support themselves. Piece by piece they have sold their furniture and have disposed of almost all their property to buy groceries, they said. Langhank said he had applied for work from the Civil Works Administration, but failed to obtain a job. He said he had worked five days as a movie extra at $7.50 a day, the only work he had in many months.

The complaint sets forth that Miss Astor gave her parents $35 on Aug. 31, 1933, and recently had given them five grocery coupons valued at $30 each, the last one March 1.

Superior Judge Frank Collier set April 5 for Miss Astor to show cause why she should not support her parents, as asked in the complaint.

Movie Actress Gives Her Version.
Notified of the suit, Miss Astor denied her parents' charges and asserted their extravagant scale of living was responsible for their present plight. She said they had refused recent offers of money from her.

"I have never refused to support my parents and I deplore deeply that so unjust and cruel a charge has been brought against me," said Miss Astor. "As a matter of fact, I have been supporting my parents ever since I entered motion pictures in 1920."

"Up until three years ago my father had the entire handling of my earnings. Everything I earned was turned over to him. I was allotted only one-fourth of my salary after all living expenses had been deducted. During that time I had earned close to $500,000, every cent of which was swept away through wildcat investments made by my father and by my parents' most extravagant scale of living."

"Three and one-half years ago I finally realized that we were going along at a spending pace I could not afford and pleaded with my parents to retrench. They refused to do so, and I moved out, determined to handle my own finances."

"I voluntarily gave them $1000 a month for a year to enable them to dispose of the house and readjust their scale of living to a standard that I could afford. At the end of the year they were still trying to maintain the elaborate home with a swimming pool and other luxuries, so I paid my father's taxes and then advanced him $2500 against a note which has never been repaid."

"Less than a year ago I offered to set them up in a modest seven-room house in San Francisco and pay all living expenses, but they refused to accept this offer. During the last few weeks I offered to give them $100 a month, but my letter wasn't acknowledged. Just today I deposited $100 in my father's account in his Hollywood bank."

NEW AUTOPSY IS ORDERED ON THE BODY OF STAVISKY

Action: Still Seeking to Establish Cause of Death.

By the Associated Press.
PARIS, March 21.—The Government today ordered a new autopsy performed on the body of Serge (Hansome Alex) Stavisky to determine whether he committed suicide or was killed Jan. 9.

The order followed a showing of motion pictures of the death scene before the Parliamentary Investigating Committee, which seeks to determine the story behind the notorious Stavisky swindles.

The police, ever since they surrounded the deserted villa at Charmonix, where Stavisky was in hiding, have contended that he shot himself to avoid arrest.

Just what appeared in the motion picture film to cause some deputies to believe Stavisky did not commit suicide, was not disclosed. Neither was it revealed immediately when the autopsy is to be performed.

ALLEGED KELLEY KIDNAPER SEEKS HABEAS CORPUS WRIT

Angelo Rosegrant Makes Application at Clayton to Effect His Release on Bail.

Formal application for a writ of habeas corpus to effect the release on bail of Angelo Rosegrant, one of six indicted on a charge of kidnaping Dr. Isaac D. Kelley, was filed in Circuit Judge McElhinney's court at Clayton today.

Tom Rowe Jr., counsel for Rosegrant, based his application on the usual formal statement that the proof against his client is not evident, nor the presumption great. Judge McElhinney set hearing on the application for this afternoon, at which time, if the Court grants the petition, an order will be issued, directing Sheriff Deane to show cause why Rosegrant should not be admitted to bail. The Sheriff and Prosecuting Attorney Anderson then will have an opportunity to make answer and to present evidence, if necessary, to show why they are opposed to Rosegrant's release.

Rosegrant and two other defendants, Bart Davis and John C. Johnson, Negro, were locked up in the county jail yesterday on the indictment, returned March 13. Of the remaining defendants, Mrs. Nellie Tipton Muench is at liberty on $50,000 bond; Felix McDonald is a convict in Jefferson City penitentiary; and Tommy Wilders, Shelton gangster, is a fugitive.

HUNTLEIGH VILLAGE ZONING ORDINANCE HELD INVALID

Law on Size of Estates Is 'Arbitrary and Unreasonable,' Federal Judge Rules.

The zoning ordinance of Huntleigh Village, on Lindbergh boulevard north of Manchester road, was held invalid by Federal Judge Paris today.

His ruling was in the suit of the Sulgrave Realty Co., which wanted to sell tracts of three acres each and purchased 35 acres on Geyer road two months before the village was incorporated. The zoning law provides a minimum of 4.9 acres for an estate.

Three sections of the ordinance, the Judge ruled, are "arbitrary, unreasonable and, therefore, invalid." The other sections he declared invalid on the ground that they were inseparable from those he had held unreasonable.

NON-UNION DAIRY DRIVER BEATEN BY THREE MEN

Edward Thomas Attacked While Making Milk Deliveries at 4 A. M.

Edward Thomas, driver for a non-union dairy at Chesterfield, Ill., was beaten by three men while making deliveries in the 4900 block of North Broadway at 4 a. m. today.

He told police the men got out of a roadster and said "we are police officers." One struck him on the head with a blunt instrument, remarking "next time you have a union card." The assailants returned to their machine and sped away.

Thomas, 43 years old, lives at 4617 Oakwood avenue, Pine Lawn. He was treated for scalp wounds at City Hospital, and later taken to St. Louis County Hospital. He is employed by the Melody Dairy Co.

WIFE NO. 2 ROUNDS UP NOS. 1, 3; MAN IS HELD

Leo Kamp, a Former Shoe Salesman, Is Accused of Bigamy.

Stories related by two disillusioned wives led to the issuance yesterday of a warrant charging bigamy against Leo Kamp, 1212 Victor street, a 40-year-old former shoe salesman, who is alleged to have married three women without obtaining a divorce from any of them.

The principal narrative was given to Assistant Circuit Attorney Murphy by Kamp's second wife, Mrs. Ida Baker Kamp, 46, who disclosed she forgave him two years ago, when she discovered the existence of his first wife but could not forgive him again when she learned a few days ago that he married a woman 20 years her junior.

The third wife, Mrs. Irene Hans Kamp, who did not know until yesterday that her husband had been married before, accompanied the second wife to the Circuit Attorney's office, told tearfully how he courted her when she worked under his direction during the Christmas holidays of 1932 in a shoe department of a downtown store. Present also was 19-year-old Leo Kamp Jr., one of three children of Kamp's first marriage. The other two live with their mother at Tiffin, O.

The second wife, whom she married in 1927, said that two years ago she became suspicious of his frequent absences, investigated and discovered the first wife. The two women conferred, she said, and agreed to accept the situation "for the sake of the children," the first wife going to Ohio.

"I never thought he would pull the same thing again," she observed ruefully. But again mysterious absences occurred, as Kamp, who had lost his job as a salesman and become a laborer, went out "looking for work." His wife feared he was looking for another wife.

Communicating with authorities at Springfield, Ill., she learned he had married his third wife, daughter of an Edwardsville miner, on Feb. 17, 1933. Continuing her investigation she found the third wife and caused the arrest of Kamp, who was working on a CWA park project after deserting her Dec. 9.

ONE AUTO HITS THREE MEN

Victims Were Standing at Side of Road Near Freeburg, Ill.

Three men were injured when struck by an automobile as they were standing at the side of the road on Route 13 at Freeburg, Ill., last night. The injured are Leon Arnold, 53 years old, who suffered a fractured skull; Charles Lucas, 50, fractured left leg, and William Klein, 45, cuts and bruises. All reside in Freeburg. They were taken to St. Elizabeth's Hospital, Belleville.

George Weber of Freeburg, driver of the car was arrested. He told police he ran into the men when he swerved the machine, which pulled suddenly out of a side road. The injured men had just attended a political meeting at Freeburg.

To Administer Schaffly Estate, James J. Schaffly, son of August Schaffly, banker who died March 5, was appointed administrator of the father's estate today. The banker, his son said, apparently left no will. In addition to the widow, Mrs. Jane A. Schaffly, the banker is survived by four sons and two daughters.

CONVICT HELPED SOLVE THE ABELN MURDER MYSTERY

Gave Tip to Police That Resulted in Arrests of Four and Confessions of Two.

A convict in the Missouri penitentiary gave the police and prosecuting authorities the information which has cleared the three months' mystery of the murder of Charles J. Abeln, South Broadway cigar dealer, and Mrs. Abeln. The convict, whose name the police have not made known, furnished the lead on which Prentice C. Trimble, unemployed taxicab driver, was arrested Sunday. Trimble, now termed the "finger man" of the robbery plot which led to the double killing, admitted his preliminary part in the crime of Dec. 22, and his help in disposing of articles of evidence, but he was not himself at the scene of the crime.

Trimble named Charles Douthitt, whose confession of his part in the attempted robbery and murder was published yesterday. As has been told, Frank Kennedy, charged by Douthitt with the actual killing of both Mr. and Mrs. Abeln, and Arthur Schnell, named by Douthitt as driver for the party, are in custody, and deny the charges. All except Trimble are former convicts.

Trimble went before the grand jury yesterday afternoon with Douthitt. He showed reluctance about repeating, in the grand jury room, the statements he had made to police questioners. Assistant Circuit Attorney McLaughlin remarked that it did not matter, as Douthitt's testimony would suffice for the State.

Trimble thought a minute. "Please give me a break," he urged the prosecutor. "Let me testify."

Delmar Angle-Parking Barred. An ordinance prohibiting angle parking on Delmar boulevard, between Clara and Hamilton avenues, went into effect today. Mayor Dickmann signed the bill yesterday. It was passed unanimously by the Board of Aldermen recently.

Trimble this afternoon helped city detectives find the automatic pistol with which, according to Douthitt, the Abelns were killed by Kennedy. Trimble admitted he hid the weapon, a 3-80 Remington, under the Page avenue viaduct crossing the River des Peres, in St. Louis County. The first search yesterday was unsuccessful. Today sewer laborers were taken to the place and diverted the stream 16 permit a more thorough search. The weapon was found, buried in mud.

The license plates taken from the car in which Abeln's slayers rode were found with Trimble's help yesterday, in a shed on Howard street, where he has hidden them. A policeman saw the license number on the night of the killing, but he got one figure wrong—a 1 for a 7—so the clew proved of no value.

While Trimble was before the grand jury, his wife, Mrs. Elizabeth Trimble, was trying to learn whether she and her 10 children, the oldest 12 years old, will be able to remain in their unpainted frame house at 9415 May avenue, Overland.

Before the husband lost his job in a drivers' strike two years ago the Trimbles bought the house for $3600, and paid $1600. Recently they have been threatened with foreclosure and Trimble had succeeded in arranging a loan from the Home Owners' Loan Corporation. Monday was the day when he was to go to the Home Loan office to sign the necessary papers. His arrest occurred Sunday.

"I'm afraid by now we've lost our home," she said.

Mrs. Trimble told a Post-Dispatch reporter of her struggle to maintain her 10 children on the $10 a week which the family has received from the St. Louis County relief organization. She told, too, of her husband's efforts to support the family by running a private taxicab, and of his taking a former convict, now again a convict, into their home last summer.

PEDDLER OF STOCK GETS 5 YEARS FOR UNLICENSED SALES

Samuel A. Mitnick Receives Maximum Penalty in First Prosecution of Type in St. Louis.

Five years in the penitentiary, the maximum sentence, was the punishment fixed by a jury in Circuit Judge Hogan's court yesterday when it found Samuel A. Mitnick guilty of selling securities without a license.

The prosecution, under a law passed about 10 years ago, was the first of its sort here, and followed complaint made to the Better Business Bureau by persons to whom Mitnick sold stock.

Admitting he had no license to sell securities, Mitnick contended he was exempt from the license provision of the law, as he was not engaged in the business of selling securities, but had simply disposed of stock he owned in private transactions.

Four business men testified they had bought stock of the Nu-Grape Co., a soft drink concern, from Mitnick, giving other securities and cash in payment. They testified they had signed agreements at Mitnick's request, that their purchases were from an individual, and that the transactions had nothing to do with corporate financing.

The jury rejected that theory, however, holding that Mitnick was in fact in the business of selling stocks. He is 34 years old and when arrested gave a midtown hotel as his address.

Those who bought stock from Mitnick and testified against him were Herman Helfman, cigar manufacturer, 1602 Menard street; Joseph Stumpfen, box manufacturer, 927 Brooklyn street; William N. Schumacher, undertaker, 4334 Natural Bridge avenue, and L. M. Carson, an insurance man in the Fullerton building.

JOBLESS MAN, WIFE CAUGHT STEALING CARTON OF BREAD

Pair Say They Took Package in Front of Store Because They Were Hungry.

An unemployed restaurant worker, 18 years old, and his 17-year-old wife, were arrested early today for the theft of a carton of bread from in front of a grocery.

The pair, who said they were Mr. and Mrs. Lester G. Riley, 4542 Oakland avenue, said they took the bread because they were hungry. "I've been out of work 18 months," Riley said. "This morning I put a screwdriver and pliers in my pocket and we went out to get something to eat even if I had to break in some place to get it."

At the Tower Grove Market, 4267 Manchester avenue, they saw the package of bread, just delivered about 3 a. m. by the McCready Baking Co. They carried it to an alley. Patrolman Henry Baldwin, walking his beat, saw them.

BODY OF MISSING WOMAN IS FOUND BURIED NEAR HOME

Police Advance Theory That Mrs. Leatha Greathouse, of Du Quoin, Ill., Was Murdered.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

DU QUOIN, Ill., March 21.—The body of Mrs. Leatha Greathouse, 38-year-old divorced wife of Earl Greathouse of Du Quoin, who disappeared from her home here Jan. 16, was discovered today buried in a crude grave in a vacant lot near her home. Police expressed the opinion she had been murdered. They said there was a knife wound on the right side of the throat.

They thought the woman had been dead two months. Three empty washtubs from a nearby dump heap had been inverted over the shallow grave. The body was found by Sam Vitale, a resident of the district, whose attention was attracted to the spot by the actions of his two dogs. Her son, Raleigh, told police his mother had left their home on the evening of Jan. 16, saying she was going to town, and he did not see her after that. After waiting several days he wrote to his stepfather, Earl Greathouse, who was visiting a sister at Carbon Hill, Ala. Greathouse returned to Du Quoin and notified police of his divorced wife's disappearance. Police have been seeking her since. Mrs. Greathouse's mother, Mrs. Fred Martie, is said to be living on Greer avenue in St. Louis.

Katy Head Taking Long Vacation. General offices of the Missouri-Kansas-Texas railroad announced today that Michael H. The move was attributed to his desire to accompany Mrs. Cahill to the West, where she hopes to recover her health. She suffered a heart attack recently.

MAN, 73, RECLUSE, BEATEN TO DEATH, SHACK RANSACKED

Albert Newman Killed by Robbers Who Had Heard Story of Mythical Wealth, Police Think.

Albert Newman, 73-year-old recluse to whom back-fence gossip ascribed mythical wealth, was slugged to death yesterday in his four-room frame and tar paper shack on the rear of a lot at 1310 Trendley avenue, East St. Louis, near the eastern end of the Municipal bridge.

Policemen who found the body at 5:15 p. m. ascribed the murder to a robber or robbers who had accepted the story of Newman's wealth as true. The shack had been ransacked. A neighbor conversant with Newman's affairs said he was impoverished and was eking out a living on an income of $23 a month from several pieces of property he owned in the neighborhood.

The police were called to the shack after Rosie Townsend, Negro resident of a shack across the alley, had reported that she had seen no smoke coming from Newman's chimney all day, and feared he might be ill.

Skull Crushed. His body lay across a chair, the head and heels touching the floor. The right side of the skull had been crushed with a clawhammer, which was found on a bed where the slayer had tossed it.

Papers were scattered about the room where Newman's body was found. A tin box in which he had kept them had been ripped open and thrown on the floor. The only item of value found by the police was an insurance policy for $153. In other rooms doors had been smashed open and furniture had been overturned.

Freeman M. Baker, who purchased his home at 1306 Trendley avenue from Newman, told detectives that Newman had been hard pressed financially for years and had remarked recently that he had had to starve himself to keep up the taxes on the two houses, a shack and several vacant lots he owned in the neighborhood. Newman's bank book showed he had $585 in the First National Bank in East St. Louis, which has been closed since the banking holiday of a year ago.

East St. Louis Resident 35 Years. Newman came to East St. Louis about 35 years ago with his wife and several children. The wife died. The children were placed in an orphan's home. Newman had told neighbors he had since lost track of the children and mentioned a brother in Aurora, Ill., as the only relative whose whereabouts he knew.

Up until two years ago he worked daily at mauling paper and other junk in a one-horse wagon. The horse died and he was unable to get another. Since then his only outside work had been cultivation of a small garden on the lot where his shack stands.

HEAD TAX URGED AS WAY TO BOOST CITY'S REVENUE

Board of Estimate Hears Proposal to Charge Every Resident $4 and Give Him Brass Tag.

Suggestions for a head tax and a lottery were offered yesterday at the third public hearing of the Board of Estimate and Apportionment to consider means of increasing city revenue for the next fiscal year, which begins April 19. Charles Delbridge, 3178 Enright avenue, an expert accountant, whose specialty is feats of rapid calculation, offered the head tax suggestion.

"Every man, woman and child in the city should pay $4 a year and should be required to wear a brass tag showing that the tax had been paid," Delbridge said.

"The dog catchers could be sent out to round up all those failing to have a tag," he added.

A. H. Albrecht, a Third street property owner, declared himself in favor of a municipal lottery. "United States money is being spent in foreign countries for lotteries," he remarked.

For Gasoline Tax Increase. Eugene C. Stifel, representing a group of taxpayers, spoke in favor of increasing the city gasoline tax half a cent to one cent to add an estimated $500,000 to municipal income. He also urged that personal tax returns be carefully checked to determine whether motor cars and deeds of trust are included by owners.

Alphonse Debusche, head of several taxpayers' groups, advocated a tax of two cents a gallon on soft drinks, "just like we have on beer." Mayor Dickmann interrupted to remark that Debusche meant "like we tried to put on beer." Debusche said he would also support a general sales tax.

Tells of Board's Work. Benjamin Shackelford, president of the Board of Children's Guardians, said the bureau was operated with a total of 13 office and field workers, the same number that handled 800 children in 1927. Because of lack of funds the monthly allowance for each child in a boarding home had to be reduced from $15 to $12, Shackelford said. He was questioned by Mayor Dickmann regarding the per capita expense of $325 a year for the care of 38 delinquent girls in private rooms at Meramec Farm. Shackelford explained that social workers agreed that private rooms were important in the social rehabilitation of delinquents.

Budget requests covering the various municipal departments total $22,298,124, which is $4,729,783 more than last year. The budget ordinance will be introduced in the Board of Aldermen next month.

600 DAYS IN WORKHOUSE Movie Operator and Taxi Driver Passed Worthless Checks.
James Curran, unemployed motion picture operator, and Mrs.
Ruth Cissell, 20-year-old former taxi driver, were sentenced to 600 days in the Workhouse on a plea of guilty of obtaining money and merchandise under false pretenses by Judge Butler in the Court of Criminal Correction yesterday.
They were charged with passing 20 worthless checks amounting to $12.50 each among various merchants. Mrs. Cissell, who is the mother of two daughters, admitted at the time of her arrest, March 6, police say, that the checks had been printed in her home at 2624 Ohio avenue. They were sentenced to 30 days on each charge, to run consecutively.

ANNAM'S BUDDHIST EMPEROR WEDS CATHOLIC COMMONER
Daughter of Merchant, Who Planned to Renounce Faith, Gets Dispensation.
HUE, Annam, March 21.—Young Emperor Bao Dai, a Buddhist, was married yesterday to Nguyen Huu Hao, 18-year-old commoner reared in a Catholic convent.
Although the bride said she would renounce her Christian faith, after failing to get papal approval last week, it was announced today, on the second of four days of Buddhist wedding ceremonies, that the Vatican had granted the necessary dispensation to permit her to marry.

Only a part of the impressive rites are witnessed by the public, the rest being conducted in official secrecy.
The bride, who will become Queen on Saturday, is the daughter of a wealthy Cochinchina merchant and was educated in Paris. The Emperor, who succeeded to the throne of this small French protectorate eight and one-half years ago, studied in Paris for ten years.

ST. LOUIS POST-DISPATCH REVELLE TELLS WHY HE RESIGNED CONTINENTAL JOB

Warned Mays of Danger of Criminal Liability if $40,- 000 Dividend Was Voted in 1933.

Transactions of the Continental Insurance Co. leading to his resignation as a director and counsel, were related in Circuit Judge Ryan's court today by Charles G.
Revelle as a witness for State Insurance Superintendent O'Malley in his suit to dissolve the company on grounds of insolvency and mismanagement.

The courtroom was filled as Re-velle, former Missouri Supreme Court Judge and once Insurance Superintendent, took the stand.
Revelle related that he warned
Ed Mays, president of the company, that a $40,000 dividend voted by directors March 11, 1933, might subject directors to criminal liability for using funds of the insurance company for private profit. The dividend, which never was paid, was to obtain money for reopening the Grand National Bank, of which Mays also was president, and which now is in liquidation.

Only Vote Against.
"I told the directors that there was not a sufficient sum in surplus funds to pay this dividend, but I was the only director to vote against it. Furthermore, a few days before I had been sent to Jefferson City to help draft a law providing a moratorium on policy loans and surrender values for policy holders.
I intended it didn't look right for us to prevent policy owners from borrowing on their policies when we were paying dividends to stockholders."

"In spite of my warning," Re-velle continued, "Mays said we were going to vote the dividend whether we had the money or not, and that the earnings of the accident and health department would make up the needed amount before the next financial statement."

Revelle stated a check for $300,- 000 drawn on the insurance company's account in the closed Grand National Bank was issued and turned over to Mays for use in plans to reopen the bank. It was not used.

Discussing a loan to A. A. Jekel, a director of the insurance company, which he had opposed because of insufficient collateral, Re-velle related that his resignation was suggested by Mays.

"Some Rarer Than That."
"After I had voted against the loan," Revelle testified, "Mays said,
'If you can't walk along with us in what we want to do you had better resign. If you are opposed to this you will be opposed to later suggestions; I have some rarer than that.'"

Revelle said he also had criticized an advance of $25,000 to the Rahmberg Motor Co. as an improper investment for an insurance company and had told Dr. T. F. Guthrie, a director of the insurance company, that he might be subjecting himself to criminal prosecution for paying insurance company funds to disas-trified depositors of the closed Grand National Bank. Dr. Guthrie, the witness stated, declared Mays insisted on his advancing money to needy depositors.

Investment Manager Testifies.
Allen W. Grossmann, manager of the investment department of the insurance company in 1927 when State examiners reported a capital impairment because they were not shown $22,000 in bonds claimed as assets, was a witness yesterday.
Grossmann, who resigned in 1930 and now is unemployed, said he issued the check for purchase of the bonds for the insurance company in August or September of 1927. His office at that time was in the building occupied by the Grand National Bank, the insurance company having its office elsewhere.

He related that when he asked for the bonds to prepare ledger sheets listing them, Mays suggested invoices be used, but produced the bonds when Grossmann continued they were necessary for complete information.

Bonds in Safety Box.
As soon as his record was completed, the bonds were turned over to Mays, Grossmann explained, and were placed in a safety deposit box in the Grand National Bank to which Mays had the only key, although the insurance company ren-dred other boxes there accessible to Grossmann and the State Insurance Department.

When insurance examiners arrived and asked to see the bonds, since they were included among assets of the company in its annual statement, Mays was in Arkansas and the box could not be opened.
E. G. McGee, one of the examiners, questioned Arlie Mays about the bonds, Grossmann said.

"The thing which aroused Mc-Gee's anger," he added, "was the statement of Arlie Mays, who said:
'Uncle Ed is a big banker and may need the bonds for collateral at any moment.'"

Report Finally Amended.
When Ed Mays returned from Arkansas, Grossmann stated on cross-examination, he produced the bonds and suggested that since there had been a question about them, they be deposited with the State Insurance Department. This was done and the report of the examiners finally was amended.
The defense has charged that Alex C. Good, the State's chief examiner, even then was "hostile" to the company. Grossmann said Good had no direct part in the inquiry about the bonds in 1927 and that Examiner McGee complained about the propriety of handling the securities, contending they should be in the insurance company's box.

The company related its defense yesterday after 40 days of hearing before Circuit Judge Ryan. Powell B. McHaney and Albert Ridge, attorneys for the State, offered 141 exhibits in evidence, and 137 defense exhibits were introduced by Theodore Rassieur, counsel for the company.
Rebuttal witnesses for the State will include Commissioner O'Malley and James Carroll, former counsel for the company.

FLYING OF MAIL 'PRIMER STUFF', MITCHELL SAYS

He Lays Deaths to Equipment, Inexperience, Appropriation Cuts and
'Boneheadedness.'

By the Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, March 21.—
Brigadier-General William Mitchell told the House Postoffice Committee today American aviation was "hopeless" compared with that of the rest of the world because "it is in the hands of this gang that had control of the air mail."
Mitchell, testifying on the administration's new air mail bill, denied vigorously that assigning the army to carry the mails was "legalized murder." He attributed deaths to "poor equipment, no flying experience, bad weather, reduced appropriations and boneheadedness."
"Since 1926," he testified, "the development of aviation has fallen largely into the hands of the commercial interests. Our aircraft today is hopeless so far as war is concerned."
"If the military flyers with the equipment they have can't fly the mail, our Air Corps might as well disband. That mail flying is primer stuff."

Mitchell said unless aviation was put under one agency "it will again fall into the hands of these money fellows, and they will continue to do what they have done."
Would Fly All First-Class.
Before Mitchell testified, the committee heard Chester W. Cuthell, general counsel for Transcontinental & Western Air, suggest it would be advisable to let airplanes carry all first-class mail at a considerable saving of time, and thus doing away with a special class of air mail. He objected, too, to a flat provision for competitive bidding, and agreed that air mail should be paid for on a pound-mile instead of a space basis.

He asked the committee to insert in the bill a "definite statement of policy," expressed the opinion that the three-year contracts called for in the bill were too short; termed "unconstitutional" the section excluding from subsequent competition carriers who have claims against the Government; asked that if the regulation of air mail were turned over to the Interstate Commerce Commission, a separate department be created "to handle our problem."

Members of President Hoover's Cabinet were charged in the Senate yesterday with having given "their services to an unlawful and fraudulent" air mail combination.
Senator Robinson of Arkansas, the majority leader, made the charge during another warms exchange on cancellation of private contracts which brought Senator Fess (Rep., Ohio) to his feet with a quick defense.

Fess shouted back at Robinson that proof of illegality about the all mail awards under Walter F.
Brown, former Postmaster General, was entirely lacking.

Senator Robinson, who has stoutly asserted the administration did its duty in canceling the mail contracts, began the tilt with Fess by announcing on the floor that Andrew W. Mellon "took exception to a statement in my address of last Thursday."

He quoted from a letter he had received from the former Secretary of the Treasury:
"In your speech... you refer to the Pittsburgh Aviation Co., Inc., as a 'strong political factor in Pennsylvania' and stated that 'the Mellons were prominent stockholders and officers in that company.'"

Fess declared Mellon said his family owned only inconsequential amounts of stock in the Pittsburgh Aviation Co.
"I hereby present evidence," Robinson replied, "which in my judgment conclusively establishes the accuracy of both the statements of which Mr. Mellon complains."

But Fess was far from convinced. He said the Mellon family owned only 2400 of the 26,000 shares issued by the aviation concern.

"If five per cent of the stock would be regarded as a controlling influence," Fess said, "then I don't know what a controlling influence is. When the Mellon family desires to control anything, it doesn't stop at five per cent."

"It is pitiable," he told Robinson,
"to watch lengths some public men will go to denounce those who disagree with them on matters of public policy."

Fess later challenged the Administration to prosecute Brown or the airmail operators for fraud, saying the courts were open to them if they had the evidence.

"If these men are guilty of any charge they ought to be punished," he said.

FORECLOSURE ON APARTMENTS
Sale of Russell Arms, in Receivership Since Nov. 30.
Foreclosure sale of the Russell Arms Apartments, 3300 Russell boulevard, was authorized yesterday by Circuit Judge Green, who appointed John C. Tobin, an attorney, special commissioner to conduct the sale.

The apartment building has been in receivership since Nov. 30, 1931, with Claude W. McIlwain and Oliver J. Kratz as receivers. They were appointed on petition of a bondholder, who alleged interest on $159,000 of bonds was in default.

TWO SHELTON GANGSTERS ARRESTED; RELEASED ON BOND

Police Act Under General Order Against Objectionable Characters.
Earl Shelton, East St. Louis gangster, and Jack Britt, an associate, were charged in warrants with vagrancy and released on bond yesterday, after their arrest Monday night in an East St. Louis saloon, under a general order to force objectionable characters out of the city.
A petition for a writ of habeas corpus to release them was filed in the City Court, but the police, when summoned, appeared with their prisoners and warrants obtained in a justice court, charging the men with vagrancy.
Judge Borders criticized the police for arresting the men. He said the arrests "were illegal and the police were just as vicious as the men they had put in jail." He ordered their release on $1500 bonds each on the vagrancy charges and continued the habeas corpus action.

LLOYD GEORGE

URGES RECOVERY PLAN FOR BRITAIN

Former Prime Minister Says His Nation Should Adopt Policies Similar to Those of Roosevelt.

FAVORS ACTION IN
"HIS BOLD SPIRIT"

"Where Necessary," He Continues, "We Must Pull Down, Rebuild on Solid Foundations."

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, March 21.—David Lloyd George, wartime Prime Minister of Great Britain, urged in an address from London yesterday that Britain undertake a recovery program similar in many respects to that of the United States.

Discussing both economics and disarmament, he said present world problems had brought on a "sense of impotence which is paralyzing high endeavor."

Lloyd George spoke in the weekly "Whither Britain" series, which has been rebroadcast in this country, and his remarks were transcribed here.

Declaring world powers seem to have abandoned all hope of a general disarmament, he said:

"Since the effort to achieve an all-round reduction was first made at Geneva, national armaments have actually expanded enormously in all directions, and this year all the great nations—the United States of America, France, Germany, Soviet Russia, Japan and ourselves—are augmenting their expenditure upon the weapons of war."

Turning to the economic situation, he advocated a government-sponsored program of return to the soil, reforestation, and the use of "expedients with no precedent" in an attempt to solve the unemployment problem.

"There can be no recovery without reconstruction," he said. "Where necessary, we must pull down, then reconstruct and rebuild on solid foundations with carefully thought out plans and sound material."

"We should do it in the bold and courageous spirit displayed by President Roosevelt, but without awaiting the terrible crash which compelled him to take such drastic action to save his country from revolution. America, with her gigantic natural resources, can survive the catastrophe that befell her financial and economic system. We are a very small country and might not be able to do so."

200 COLLEGE PROFESSORS IN GOVERNMENT SERVICE

NRA Has Largest Number of Any Department, With 40 Holding Jobs.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, March 21.—More than 200 college professors have accepted jobs with the Roosevelt administration during its first year in office.

The NRA has the largest number, with 40. The Agriculture Department has given the Blue Eagle group a close race, with 34. Dr. Raymond A. Mohr, formerly of the State Department, and Dr. Rexford G. Tugwell and Dr. Mordcai Kuzial, advisers and assistants to Secretary Wallace, are generally conceded to have broken the first ground.

A tally of professional talent in the various departments shows that two of the three directors of the Tennessee Valley Authority are former college presidents, as is the newest member of the Interstate Commerce Commission.

Tugwell's New Job Approved.

WASHINGTON, March 21.—The post of Undersecretary of Agriculture which Rexford G. Tugwell, present Assistant Secretary, is slated to fill, was approved yesterday by the House in the conference report on the $62,500,000 annual Agriculture Department supply bill. At present Tugwell receives $5000. The Undersecretaryship would pay $10,000.

A CLEAR COMPLEXION

Bulky cheeks—sparkling eyes—most women can have. Dr. F. M. Edwards for 20 years treated scores of women for liver and bowel ailments. During these years he gave his patients a substitute for salome made of a few well-known vegetable ingredients naming them Dr. Edwards Olive Tablets. Know them by their olive color.

These tablets are wonder-workers on the liver and bowels, causing a normal action, carrying off the waste and poisonous matter in one's system. If you have a pale face, yellow look, full eyes, pimples, coated tongue, headaches, a listless, ungodly feeling, all out of sorts, inactive people, take one of Dr. Edwards Olive Tablets nightly for a time and note the pleasing results.

Thousands of women and men take Dr. Edwards Olive Tablets—and then to King, Dr. J. C. Lee and Dr. J. C. Lee.

PUBLIC SERVICE CO. BUYS SIXTEEN BUSES

Five Now on Delmar Line and Others Destined for Lindell.

Sixteen modern type motor buses have been purchased by the Public Service Co., following its absorption of the People's Motor Bus Co. last month. Five of the vehicles have been placed in operation on the Delmar express line. The other 11, of three other makes, will be delivered soon for the Lindell express line.

General Manager Greenleaf explained that it was desired to determine which make gives best service before buying more. The cost of the new vehicles is slightly more than $11,000 each. Receiver Kiel paid cash for them. The buses, of speedy, comfortable type, seat about 42 passengers each, with thick leather cushions. The five in use now are of the "twin coach" style, one of the South while on the tour.

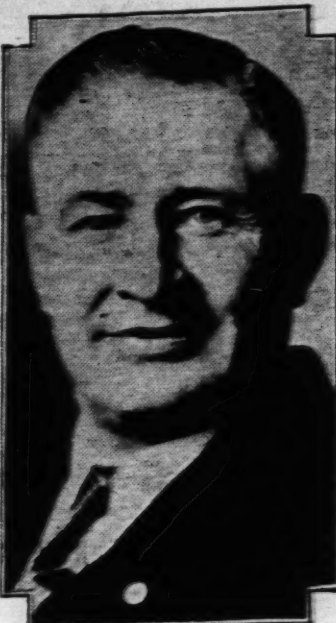

like some on the Gravois line, with dual four-cylinder motors, producing more than 180 horsepower.

This brings the number of buses in service to about 215, of which 110 are of the double-deck type. Since taking over the double-deckers from the People's company, the Public Service Co. has converted about 40 of them from solid to pneumatic tires.

A color scheme for buses has been chosen, to be carried out gradually as the vehicles need shop attention. Buses for the four express lines are to be like the new ones on the Delmar route, with light green sides, cream trim around the windows and aluminum roofs. On all other lines, where special trolley fares and universal transfers are honored, buses will be yellow, like street cars.

Washington U. Debate Tour. Elliott Koenig, Richard Bryan and Martin Brennenbrenner, Washington University students, are competing in the Missouri Valley oratorical contest and invitation debate tournament at Austin, Tex., which will end Saturday. The debate team, accompanied by Robert F. Young, director of forensics, meets Tulane University and Loyola University at the South while on the tour.

FARM UNION HEAD

E. H. EVERSON.
FOR many years a leader of the farm movement in the Northwest, was chosen president of the National Farmers' Union, succeeding the late John A. Simpson, who died suddenly in Washington. Everson, a "dirt farmer" of St. Charles, S. D., was formerly president of the South Dakota Farmers' Union.

NRA CHECKING SECOND VOTE AT BUDD PLANT

Ballot Boxes Are Taken to Washington, Where Result Will Be Announced.

By the Associated Press.
PHILADELPHIA, March 21.—The National Recovery Administration has about 30 ballots to check against a list of more than 6000 present and former employees of the Edward G. Budd Manufacturing Co., as a result of the second election on employee representation at the plant.

Disregarding the National Compliance Director's order for a postponement, 3752 employees voted a week ago Saturday in favor of the so-called company union. About 800 men who had not been rehired after going on strike last November were barred from that election. It was to permit Gen. Hugh S. Johnson to study the position of these men that the election had been ordered postponed. The NRA Administrator called the second election yesterday, giving these men the right to vote. The United Automobile Workers' Union asserted it would have won the first poll if these 800 had been re-employed in the places of new men, but refused to ignore the election yesterday because the question on which the employees were asked to vote was:

"Do you favor representation by the United Automobile Workers' Federal Union, 18,762, or the American Federation of Labor?"

Some contended this meant that those union supporters who did not vote would, in effect, cast a ballot against the union.

Many refused to vote when they learned they would be obliged to sign their names to the ballots. The refusal was on the ground that this might lead to future discrimination.

They persisted in the refusal even in the face of assurance from George Buckley, Johnson's representative, that their names would be kept in confidence.

Buckley removed the ballot boxes to Washington, where the result of yesterday's poll will be announced.

WILL LEAVES BULK OF NUGENT ESTATE IN TRUST FOR WIDOW

Albert F. Becker, Friend, Receives $5000; Two Daughters Share In Income.

The bulk of the estate of Edwin T. Nugent, former officer of the old B. Nugent & Co. Dry Goods Co., who died March 12, is left in trust for his widow, Mrs. Olga Nugent, under his will filed in Clayton yesterday. No value for the estate was given.

The will leaves his personal belongings and a residence in Groton, Conn., to Mrs. Nugent, and makes a bequest of $5000 to his friend, Albert F. Becker, in appreciation of services. Becker, who resides at 505 Westgate, a nurse, was associated with Nugent's father, the late Byron Nugent, in the department store business.

The rest of the estate is left in trust, five-sevenths of the income to go to the widow and one-seventh, each, to two daughters, Mrs. Olga Conroy of Cincinnati and Miss Edwin Nugent. The income is to be divided equally between the daughters on their mother's death.

JURY UPHOLDS WIDOW'S WILL

Buys Mrs. Lillie R. Hellmich Was Mentally Competent.

A jury in Circuit Judge Kirkwood's court returned a verdict yesterday sustaining the will of Mrs. Lillie R. Hellmich, a widow, who died Sept. 14, 1932. The will had been contested by her brother, Andrew Hellmich, to whom she bequeathed $5.

The principal part of her estate, valued at $23,000, was left to another brother, Philip Hellmich, named executor. The petition alleged that Mrs. Hellmich, by reason of illness, did not possess mental capacity to make a legal will. The defense introduced testimony to the effect she was mentally competent. She resided at the Fairgrounds Hotel.

MAYOR URGES CONGRESSMEN TO WORK FOR MORE PWA FUNDS

City Improvement Program Threatened Unless Federal Money Is Made Available.

Mayor Dickmann said that he will send letters to United States Senators Patterson and Clark and the 13 Congressmen from Missouri, urging that they seek the approval of Congress to an additional appropriation for the Public Works Administration.

The Mayor is taking this action, he said, in view of a letter he received yesterday from President

Brown of the Board of Public Service, pointing out that unless additional PWA funds were provided, the city would be prevented from carrying out its proposed $20,000,000 improvement program of which $16,000,000 is planned to come from a local bond issue to be voted on here May 15 and the balance in grants requested of the PWA. Brown pointed out that to date the PWA had approved six grants for St. Louis covering work estimated to cost $4,881,426 and that the city still had pending 18 applications for grants for projects estimated to cost $2,712,225, these including eight of the 12 projects in the proposed local bond issue. "Unless there is some reasonable assurance that additional money will be provided for allotments to Public Works Administration, it is going to act very seriously against the voting of these bonds," Brown said.

FALL IS FATAL TO WOMAN

Mrs. William Billingsley Succumbs to Skull Fracture.

Mrs. William Billingsley, 33 years old, died at City Hospital yesterday of a skull fracture suffered Sunday night when she fell down the concrete steps in front of her home, 4115 Bowen street. Neighbors found her unconscious at the foot of the steps at 8 o'clock. Police reported the steps were free of ice, and it was believed she had stumbled.

Richard Washburn Child in Europe. PLYMOUTH, England, March 21.—Richard Washburn Child, President Roosevelt's European trade representative, arrived here aboard the S. S. Washington today and said he had come to Europe "to see what the world wants to do about rejuvenating itself." Child said: "I am going to study the situation and decide what kind of co-operation we can have to achieve economic disarmament."

FRENCH SAY SPY RING OPERATED IN MANY COUNTRIES

New Angles Uncovered in Documents Seized After Alleged Confession of American Pair.

MORE ARRESTS EXPECTED TODAY

Investigators Convinced
Band Has Been Peddling Military and Other Secrets for 10 Years.

By the Associated Press.

PARIS, March 21.—French secret police expected additional arrests today in their broadening investigation of an international spy ring which they said had dealt in naval and military secrets of the United States, England and France. Fresh angles were uncovered, in the first examination of documents seized yesterday when six persons were arrested as a result, authorities said, of disclosures by the American prisoners, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Gordon Switz.

Judge Andre Benon, the investigating magistrate, led in a further scrutiny of the confiscated documents today. Police said perhaps as many as 25 more would be arrested, but they maintained secrecy regarding those under suspicion.
Including the Switzes, natives of East Orange, N. J., and New York, 16 are in jail.

Benon today considered appealing to police authorities in the United States to assist him. Scotland Yard is supplying the magistrate with information about the lives of Mr. and Mrs. Switz. Today, it was revealed, the web of espionage was tangled the College de France, where Prof. Aubry's chemical laboratory was raided and "a generous harvest"—as outlined by the police—was discovered. Judge Benon specifically seeks to uncoy what he describes as a trial leading through New York.

Judge Benon was silent in regard to the American and British ramifications of the plot—ramifications said to have been disclosed by the American pair when the magistrate said they declared the spy syndicate had a New York recruiting center. Although asserted to have been working in the interests of Soviet Russia and Germany, police believed today the ring also may have dealt with other Powers. They predicted an espionage network would be found spread in many countries.
Leniency for Americans Expected.
Investigators said they were convinced the band had been operating for at least 10 years, but that it was so skillfully organized that it largely escaped the attention of police. They added the belief that besides military information, financial, political and trade secrets were peddled.

As a result of their revelations,
in a seven-hour grilling Monday, Judge Benon indicated the Switzes likely would be shown leniency.
They were arrested along with eight others late in December.
Attorney Katz, counsel for the young Americans, said Mrs. Switz, who is 22 and formerly was Marjorie Tilley of New York, was "greatly relieved after easing her mind by making the revelations." The investigating magistrate said Switz, 29, testified he came to Paris at a monthly salary of 5000 francs (about $335).

Those arrested yesterday include
Col. Dumoulin, retired army officer and editor of a military publication, who, authorities say, revealed details of secret sessions of the French war school; M. Aubry, engineer at an army powder factory, and his wife; M. Reich and Mlle. Riva Davidovici, a Rumanian dentist; A third woman suspect—a Bessarabian student and wife of a Frenchman—she fled before police made their raids.

Switzerland Clearing House.
Through the Switzes, Judge Ben-on said, it was learned that the syndicate operated through Switzerland as a clearing house, peddling information to German and Soviet agents.

In the raids, secret codes, photographic plates and films—along with many documents—were seized in the rooms of the new prisoners.
Many of the papers were said by police to deal with plans to protect France against gas attacks and to mobilize industry for unified effort in time of war.

It is charged that Col. Dumoulin's magazine was used to incite non-commissioned officers against their superiors. He and Aubry are said to have received about $325 a week for their activities. Mlle. Davidovici is said to have acted as a go-between for the gang and the Russian and German representatives.

J., and New York, 16 are in jail.

Benon today considered appealing to police authorities in the United States to assist him. Scotland Yard is supplying the magistrate with information about the lives of Mr. and Mrs. Switz. Today, it was revealed, the web of espionage extended to the College de France, where Prof. Aubry's chemical laboratory was raided and "a generous harvest" as outlined by the police, was discovered.

Judge Benon was silent in regard to the American and British confessions of the plot—ramifications said to have been disclosed by the American pair when the magistrate said they declared the spy syndicate had a New York recruiting center. Although asserted to have been working in the interests of Soviet Russia and Germany, police believed today the ring also may have dealt with other powers. They predicted an espionage network would be found spread in many countries.

Investigators said they were convinced the band had been operating for at least 10 years, but that was so skillfully organized that it largely escaped the attention of police. They added the belief that besides military information, financial, political and trade secrets were peddled.

As a result of their revelations, in a seven-hour grilling Monday, Judge Benon indicated the Switzes likely would be shown leniency. They were arrested along with eight others late in December. Attorney Katz, counsel for the young Americans, said Mrs. Switz, who is 22 and formerly was Marjorie Tiley of New York, was "greatly relieved after easing her mind by making a full confession."

Investigating magistrate said Switz, 29, testified he came to Paris at a monthly salary of 5000 francs (about $335).

Those arrested yesterday include Col. Dumoulin, retired army officer and editor of a military publication, who, authorities say, revealed details of secret sessions of the French war school; M. Aubry, engineer at an army powder factory, and his wife, M. Reich and Mlle Riva Davidovici, a Rumanian dentist. A third woman suspect—a Bessarabian student and wife of a Frenchman—she fled before police made their raids.

Switzerland Clearing House. Through the Switzes, Judge Benon said, it was learned that the syndicate operated through Switzerland as a clearing house, peddling information to German and Soviet agents.

In the raids, secret codes, photographic plates and films—along with many documents—were seized in the rooms of the new prisoners. Many of the papers were said by police to deal with plans to protect France against gas attacks and to mobilize industry for unified effort in time of war.

It is charged that Col. Dumoulin's magazine was used to incite non-commissioned officers against their superiors. He and Aubry are said to have received about $325 a week for their activities. Mlle. Davidovici is said to have acted as go-between for the gang and the Russian and German representatives.

Hitler on Dumping Cart Speaks at Opening of Drive To Put Jobless to Work

By the Associated Press. MUNICH, Germany, March 21.—Chancellor Adolf Hitler opened a nation-wide campaign against unemployment today with a speech, in which he declared that "never has any Government succeeded to a worse inheritance than ours did a year ago."

He spoke at Unterhaching, near here, one of 22 places at which jobless men numbering 100,000 began work on a network of highways on the first anniversary of the Reichstag convention at Potsdam, which gave dictatorial powers to Hitler.

"Step by step," Hitler declared, "Germany is approaching an abyss. Farmers are doomed. The middle class ruined and—above all—6,000,000 Germans were unemployed, which meant that every two employed persons supported a third unemployed."

Roads were installed throughout Germany in order that the Chancellor's speech might be carried to the nation. School children listened in and pedestrians were directed to gather around loud speakers set up at street corners.

Before Hitler spoke and while he marched up and down the ranks of spade-wielding thousands, Dr. Joseph Goebbels, Propaganda Minister, made an address in which he asserted Germany was in the forefront of nations fighting unemployment.

Says World Imitates Germany. Goebbels filled in the gap between Hitler's arrival at the scene of automobile road construction and his stepping to a dumping cart for the radio speech.

"Germany leads all nations in fighting the world crisis," Goebbels said. Means and methods employed by us are being increasingly imitated by the world.

"We can probably assert that at least in this realm Germany has regained the world reputation."

"In the face of successes we have achieved along the whole line, the haughty disdain of the world gave way to constantly growing admiration."

"The year 1934 will be devoted exclusively to economic reconstruction. We know we have made mistakes, but at least we did not stand idly by. We acted first and philosophized afterward."

He added that under the Nazi regime savings in bank deposits increased about $307,000,000 in 1933.

Strongly rejecting currency experiments, Hitler said, "Inflation, as we had under previous regimes, is impossible."

Road and tax loan certificate funds will be spent in accordance with an economic program advanced in 1932 by Chancellor Franz von Papen, now Vice Chancellor.

Under von Papen's plan, the government would issue tax refund certificates which would be negotiable. They would bear 4 per cent interest, and 20 per cent of each certificate could be used annually for payment of all taxes except income taxes.

A widening of credit was expected, since the certificates would be negotiable.

STALIN OFFERS TO ADOPT SON OF HANGED AUSTRIAN SOCIALIST

But Mother of 3-Year-Old Boy Declares She Cannot Part With Him.

VIENNA, March 21.—It was learned here yesterday that Josef Stalin, dictator of Soviet Russia, had offered to adopt the 3-year-old son of Georg Weissel, Austrian Socialist leader hanged by the Heimwehr during the recent civil strife in Vienna, but Weissel's widow refused to part with the child.

Frau Weissel tried to kill herself with gas following the hanging of her husband. It was while she was recovering that Stalin's offer was taken to her by an emissary. She said: "I can't part with my boy. I want to bring him up, a Socialist like his father."

Stalin has two children of his own. His second wife died recently in what was said to be a poison plot from which she saved her husband.

New Head of Republican Club Says Party Will Fight to Keep National Heritage.

NEW YORK, March 21.—Plans for the national reorganization of the Republican party under youth leadership were told yesterday by Col. Theodore Roosevelt, who on April 16 will become president of the National Republican Club.

In an interview, young "T. R.," at 46, a seasoned veteran of American politics, struck out vigorously against the presidential policies of Franklin D. Roosevelt, his fifth cousin.

"We have let the liberties and responsibilities of individuals and communities slip away," he said. "Congress has done the same with its rights and privileges. Are we going to fight to keep for our children what our ancestors won for us, or are we going to let our national heritage slip away?"

The Civil War a fundamental principle divided the nation. Men were courageous enough to take a definite stand, and the Republican party was the result."

Col. Roosevelt said that Republicans would be invited to join in organized protest against destructive tendencies of the New Deal. Charges of encroachment on personal liberties, threats to freedom of the press, "deceptive" budget making, the "tendency of the administration away from states' rights are expected to furnish a major part of the campaign material."

BLUE SHIRT LEADER WINS POINT IN IRISH HIGH COURT

O'Duffy Cannot Be Tried by Military Tribunal on Two Charges Against Him.

DUBLIN, Irish Free State, March 21.—The Irish Free State Government was rebuffed today by a decision of the high court that a military tribunal did not have the power to try Gen. Eoin O'Duffy, opposition Blue Shirt leader, on charges of sedition and inciting to mutiny.

The military tribunal, the ruling held, is a court of constitutional jurisdiction within control of the high court.

The high court's conditional prohibition against the tribunal taking up the sedition and incitement to murder charges was made absolute. However, the court ruled, the tribunal has the power to deal with O'Duffy on a charge of membership in unlawful associations.

DOUMERGUE IN RADIO APPEAL

French Premier Speaks Saturday Against Political Strife.

PARIS, March 21.—Premier Doumergue decided today to attempt to block the menace of political strife, for which the French press says rival groups are arming, by a radio appeal to the country. On March 24, the Premier announced, he will go to the people with a plea that they put aside their animosities.

This new mode of attack was decided on after charges were made that both Socialists and Rightist groups were arming heavily for further civil conflict. Nationalist papers asserted that weapons already had been stored in a wide belt around Paris and that Socialists were starting a military movement in the north to support a revolutionary drive in the capital.

Leftist journals retorted that Rightist elements were arming in an effort to bring about a Fascist coup d'etat.

UNITED STATES, JAPAN, EXCHANGE GOOD WILL NOTES

Tokio Minister Says His Nation "Has No Intention to Provoke Trouble" With Any Power.

By the Associated Press. WASHINGTON, March 21.—Koki Hirota, Foreign Minister of Japan, and Secretary of State Hull have exchanged notes affirming the pacific intentions of the two countries.

The notes, released simultaneously today here and in Tokio, were transmitted a month ago.

Hirota in his note said that the Japanese Government "has no intention whatever to provoke and make trouble with any other power."

Secretary of State Hull replied: "I receive this statement with special gratification. I am glad to take this opportunity to state categorically that the United States on its part has no desire to create any issues and no intention to initiate any conflict in its relations with other countries."

Fledge of Amity. The Hirota-Hull exchange was the first such passage of good will notes since President Roosevelt took office.

In his message, Hirota said: "No question exists between our two countries that is fundamentally incapable of amicable solution."

Hull concurred in this statement and added: "If unhappily there should arise in the future any controversy between our two countries, the American Government will be prepared, as I believe it always has been in the past, to examine the position of Japan in a spirit of amity."

Interpretation of Move. The Japanese note was delivered by Hiroshi Saito, Japan's new Ambassador here, one month ago.

Some close observers here regarded the note as a friendly attempt by Japan to lay the groundwork for opening discussions with the United States on several questions on which the two nations are not in complete accord.

Included in this category would be Japan's unofficial proposal for a preliminary two-nation conference for a discussion of naval armaments before the general naval conference which is to be held in Washington in 1935. Japan has already served notice it will seek parity at that time.

Others considered it significant that the note had been sent just one week before Pu-yi, the former boy Emperor of China, became Emperor Kang Teh of the Japanese-Sponsored empire of Manchukuo, on March 1.

FACTORY EMPLOYMENT UP 6.1 PCT. IN MONTH

Secretary Perkins Also Reports Gain of $13,500,000 in Weekly Payrolls.

WASHINGTON, D. C., March 21.—A gain of 6.1 per cent in factory employment and an increase in payrolls of $13,500,000 in the month ending Feb. 15, as compared with the preceding month, have been announced by Secretary of Labor Frances Perkins.

The Labor Department's figures, covering 89 manufacturing industries, showed a gain of 273,000 in employment during the month with a rise of $13,500,000 in weekly payrolls.

Isadore Lubin, Commissioner of Labor Statistics, said the payroll rise was attributed to employees added and partly to increased working hours for persons employed on part time jobs.

The department also announced figures for 16 non-manufacturing industries. They show a decline of 28,000 in employment and a decrease of $1,500,000 in payrolls. In explaining this decrease Miss Perkins said: "Loss occurred almost entirely in private building construction and this was due to bad weather."

The decline in construction amounted to 10 per cent. Retail trade showed a decrease of 1 per cent, but this was interpreted by Secretary Perkins as a normal decline following the Christmas trade and "January sales."

Miss Perkins expressed the opinion that the February upturn, which followed four months of declining factory employment, was not a temporary spurt, but would continue. Production in February was up in all but a few industries. She pointed out that the rise in February had virtually wiped out the declines in employment registered during the winter months and had more than made up for the declines in payrolls.

Employment in Missouri rose 5.7 per cent during the month and payrolls increased 8.2 per cent. In Illinois, employment rose 2.5 per cent while payrolls increased 3.2 per cent.

CAPITAL STOCK TAX IS APPROVED BY SENATE GROUP

Charge of Tenth of One Pct. Effective July 1, 1935—Revenue Estimated at $95,000,000.

By the Associated Press. WASHINGTON, March 21.—A $300,000,000 tax bill was approved today by the Senate Finance Committee and Chairman Harrison (Dem.), Mississippi, said he expected the Senate would take it up early next week.

After approving a capital stock tax of one-tenth of 1 per cent and an excess profits levy to take effect July 1, 1935, and estimated to bring in $85,000,000 a year, the committee voted 8 to 7 to broaden the House provision for a tax on imported coconut or sesame oil by including palm, sunflower, fish and whale oils, but the levy was reduced from 5 to 3 cents a pound.

Secretaries Hull and Morgenthau opposed the vegetable oil taxes. These oils are imported principally from the Philippines and are used largely in the manufacture of soap.

The committee eliminated the excise tax on clocks, which brings in about $100,000 a year.

An amendment by Senator Clark (Dem.), Missouri, to eliminate the tax on copra, coal, lumber and oil was rejected.

The committee also approved a 5 per cent penalty tax on corporations if earnings exceed 12 1/2 per cent, as a guard against undervaluations in determining their own capital stock valuations.

As a partial offset for these new taxes, the committee eliminated the excise tax on soft drinks, which bring in an estimated $6,200,000, but increased the tax on colored matches from two to 5 cents per thousand to meet Japanese competition, and placed a 25 per cent tax on automatic lighters.

The tax on furs valued at $30 or less was struck out. This was expected to pay off another $4,000,000 in revenue.

Increase on Estate Taxes. Further excise and nuisance taxes were left untouched because Harrison said the committee did not wish to stop proceeds from this source until the new revenue from the capital stock and excess profits levies begins to trickle in after July 1, 1935.

The committee also approved a Harrison amendment increasing es-

THE POST-DISPATCH PLATFORM

I know that my refinement will make no difference in its cardinal principles; that it will always fight for progress and reform, never tolerate injustice or corruption, always fight demagogues of all parties, never belong to any party, always oppose privileged classes and public plunderers, never lack sympathy with the poor, always remain devoted to the public welfare; never be satisfied with merely printing news; always be drastically independent; never be afraid to attack wrongs, whether by predatory plutocracy or predatory poverty.

LETTERS FROM THE PEOPLE

Clay Feet.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:

ANENT termination of the air mail contracts, there is not a court of equity in the land which would not instantly brand as a flagrant fraud the act of one who paid a competitor not to bid against him at a public letting of a contract. Nobody but a scoundrel would do that, and the unmistakable implication in Senator O'Mahoney's question to Col. Lindbergh was that an officer of the Colonel's company did just that very thing. The Colonel's refusal to answer on the ground that the Senator's question was hypothetical did the Colonel no credit. Verily, the feet of heroes are made of clay.

The Colonel's complaint that the air mail contracts were unjustifiably canceled without a trial of the issue of fraud was really puerile. Who ever heard of a victim of a fraudulent transaction going to court to rid himself of an illegal contract when he can do that over a telephone? The normal impulse and the universal practice is to tell the crook to go to hell, you are through with him. It's then up to the crook to go to court.

GLENDY B. ARNOLD.

On the Chicago Tribune Front.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:

PLEASE permit me to congratulate the Chicago Tribune on its ratification of the first amendment. It was a splendid victory, magnificently won. I think, indeed, it was more than the country had dared to expect. Inspired by it, I hope the Tribune will go ahead in its fight for liberty, and take up the cudgels for the third amendment, the violation of which should we relax our eternal vigilance, would threaten the very privacy of our homes.

Being a reader of the St. Louis Post-Dispatch, I wish to thank the Tribune for saving it, along with those chestnut journals of Mr. Hearst. And, should the Tribune decide to put its humanitarianism to practical use and start a fund for the relief of the under-nourished staff of the Post-Dispatch, I hope it does not leave me out. I wish to contribute.

I haven't so much faith in the Tribune's ability to overcome the English language, which has withstood so many assaults. Nevertheless, I know the Tribune will give it a good fight. Already it is doing what I have said; but, like Paul Jones, it has not yet begun to fight, so I lay on, McCormick.

Protest of the Postal Substitutes.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:

THE protest meeting held by the substitute clerks of the New York City Postoffice is quite timely and to the point, and, beyond a shadow of a doubt, finds a resonant chord of protest among the thousands of substitute postal clerks all over the country. At least, the same spirit of protest exists among the substitutes of the St. Louis office.

It seems an irony of the farcical breed that prompts Government authorities to tell private industries what to do in the matter of taking unemployed from the relief rolls, while at the same time they themselves are sending a by-no-means small body of well-to-do agencies. This is not merely a metaphorical way of stating things. Signs have appeared in the Postoffice Building informing substitute clerks that they are eligible for relief from the emergency relief fund. Meantime, the lobbies of all postoffices boldly flaunt NRA eagles and eaglets, and boxes are provided where one may deposit names of parties abusing the NRA program.

Wretched as the plight of the substitute postal clerk is now, it gives promise of being even more wretched should the postoffice economy program be put into effect.

If economies are to be made in the postoffice, they should not be made at the expense of any postal worker, certainly not at that of the substitute clerk. There are other ways and means of economy.

The Government has a real obligation toward the workers of this most useful and much abused branch of its service.

Defends Radio Advertising.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:

I READ in Sunday's paper a letter from James McIntosh of Alton, Ill., regarding radio and why people do not use their sets. He says there is too much advertising connected with the broadcasts. I wonder if he thinks that the manufacturers of food products, tooth paste, shaving creams, etc., could afford to pay for the great artists we hear—John McCormack, Lawrence Tibbett, Maude Adams and a host of others—without getting a little return in the way of advertising.

And then think of the wonderful things we hear that have no advertising connected with them. Think of the banquets where we hear many celebrated men, from our President down, and other entertainments where there is speaking and music which does not cost a cent, but is so enjoyable and educational. I think if Mr. McIntosh would sit down and think over this a little, he would write a far different letter next time. The advertising never continues long, and one can tune off until the entertainment begins again.

A RADIO FAN.

THE NEW STOCK EXCHANGE BILL.

It would be a calamity if Congress were fooled by the propaganda with which Wall Street interests have flooded the country to defeat the Fletcher-Rayburn bill for regulation of the stock exchanges.

This bill was first introduced by its sponsors early in February. Monday Congressman Rayburn introduced a revised bill. It is good to see that, despite the cunning alarms of Wall Street, the Government has stood firm in its determination to secure an effective regulation of stock exchanges. It is also heartening to hear that the President is to be behind the bill as modified, which, as Mr. Pecora says, not only has "strong teeth, but strong jaws to work the teeth as well."

Wall Street propaganda against the bill has been divided into two divisions. Over the nation a deluge of circulars and letters have sought to frighten bankers, corporation executives, investors and business men in general. Bankers have been told that they would be subjected to the same regulation as brokers with respect to margins on loans. Corporation officials have been told that the bill slyly brings corporations under control of the Federal Trade Commission. Investors were told that, if the bill passed, brokers and bankers would have to dump an enormous number of shares on the market because of the marginal requirements for broker loans in the measure. The business man was assured that the bill would upset business and retard recovery.

Propaganda has perhaps never before achieved such altitudes in deliberate falsification, if we propaganda be excepted. In Washington, the lobbying arm of the exchange has struggled desperately to cripple the bill.

The design of the bill is to rid stock exchanges of the evil of excessive speculation. Excessive speculation arises from two powers that the exchange has enjoyed. One is the power of easy bank credit. This is the stuff out of which great and disastrous bull markets are made. In 1929, at one time more than eight billions of the people's money deposited in banks had been sucked into the market for purposes of speculation. Practically all of these speculative operations were nothing but pure gambling. Yet this is the only gambling that can be conducted on credit. The Fletcher-Rayburn bill attacks this situation by prescribing stiff but effective margins on brokers' loans. It compels all brokers or persons borrowing on margins to borrow from a Federal Reserve bank. This gives the Federal Reserve Board effective control over stock market credit.

The other source of speculation is the speculative activities of members of the exchange for their own account. The popular notion is that the exchange is made up of commission brokers who represent the public in executing their commissions. The truth is that a large number of the members of the exchange devote their entire time to gambling in stocks for their own accounts. They are called floor traders. Some 200 or more other members are called specialists who, while acting as brokers, also speculate on an enormous scale for their own account. Finally, a great many commission brokers often represent only themselves in executing orders. The result is that the great bulk of the transactions on the exchange are by members for themselves. The original Fletcher-Rayburn bill segregated the functions of the broker. The specialist was prohibited from buying for his own account. So was the commission broker. The floor trader was driven off the floor entirely, unless he functioned henceforth as a commission broker.

Realizing that harmful speculation may originate outside the exchange as well as within, the bill provides severe penalties for manipulation and takes out of the hands of manipulators the tools by which they have long been able to rig markets—options, the privilege of secrecy and fictitious activity.

The Federal Trade Commission is to administer the law. These are the jaws of the bill, and around them the bitterest battle has raged. The stock exchange has moved heaven and earth to get the enforcement of the bill into friendly hands. Wall Street has advocated that the Federal Reserve Board or a commission proposed by Richard Whitney, president of the New York Stock Exchange, administer the bill. This the House and Senate committees have stubbornly refused to do.

The propaganda of Wall Street has failed. It is true that the original bill has been modified, but the revised bill is still one of the most important ever to go before Congress. This despite softening in such matters as margin requirements, relaxation of the original provision requiring corporations to file quarterly audited statements with the exchange, clarifying language so as to end doubts that banks would be held to the margin requirements of the bill in making loans.

Notwithstanding these, the bill retains its original "teeth and jaws." If Congress will now do its part, the New Deal will have scored another great triumph over human greed.

TAXES ON TOBACCO.

An editorial in the Lexington (Ky.) Herald, pointing out that the tax on cigarettes was boosted in 1919 to make up in part for losses in revenue occasioned by prohibition, says that tobacco is the most heavily taxed of all commodities. It offers this graphic comparison: The grower of burley tobacco receives $100 an acre for his investment and his toll; the manufacturer receives about $300 from tobacco grown on an acre; on the same tobacco, the Government collects in taxes approximately $800.

If, in this instance, taxation is a science, then we are Fiji Islanders.

A GREAT AMERICAN.

The late Dr. Charles William Eliot, whose centenary occurred yesterday, was a precursor of the New Deal. He hated child labor, and he had no hesitation in urging the adoption of the constitutional amendment proposed in behalf of its abolition. He knew that capital was taking more than its share of profit, and he endorsed the right of collective bargaining by workers. He had no use for tariff policies which build great fortunes for a few at the expense of the many, and he denounced them in the seat of New England protectionism. He was keenly alert to the tragic folly of war, and, before the creation of the League of Nations and the World Court, he urged reliance on pacific devices for the settlement of international differences. He despised spoils politics, and he was one of the first champions of civil service. Indeed, he gave himself to so many good causes during his long life that in perspective his contribution as an enlightened and influential citizen seems more than equal to his epoch-making impress on education. By birth and training and position, Dr. Eliot might have been an aristocrat. He was instead for many years a democracy's leading democrat. It is no wonder that when his one hundredth anniversary was observed in a radio program last night, the honors were done by no less a personage than the Chief Justice of the United States Supreme Court.

AN ARTIST AND THE CWA.

John Sloan is a noted American artist, represented in museums over the country, winner of numerous medals, recognized as a leader in his field. Yet his present status is that of CWA worker, making paintings for the Government at a stipend of $38.25 per week. This state of affairs, says Mrs. Grace Cosselin, CWA chairman in New York City, leaves her "flabbergasted." Yet it would be unfair to accuse Mr. Sloan of chiseling, seeking publicity or callously taking bread from the mouths of needy artists. There seems no reason to doubt his statement that he is doing this work because he needs the money; that the last four years, despite his medals and honors, have been tough for him.

Such is the plight of the artist in our mechanistic civilization, and only now has the Government taken any action to remedy that plight. Jo Davidson, the famous sculptor, writing in the New York Times, expresses enthusiasm over the New Deal for art. He points out that all great art of the past was turned out by artists working for the state, or for church and state. Says Mr. Davidson: "Everything that has survived as a part of the world's permanent endowment in the way of art, from the Pyramids to Versailles, has been paid for out of the public purse." There may be exceptions in the artists subsidized by wealthy private patrons, but such benefactors have grown rarer as the world turned to commercialism.

Would the world have had the Acropolis as its glorious heritage without the public spirit of Pericles in using the state's funds to lease the genius of Phidias for Athens? America is following belatedly in the ancient tradition. Private commissions have failed to support John Sloan, and the public cannot begrudge the dollars that go to him and scores of lesser artists, for the individual's sustenance and the nation's cultural benefit.

HE PRIZED HIS GOLDFISH.

Anyhow, the fellow loved his goldfish. The story comes from England—from Bristol, to be exact. There was water shortage. But this chap's goldfish never suspected. Regularly the bowl was replenished, and the goldfish flipped sedately around, when the whim seized them, or calmly meditated, as they are prone to do, and occasionally went into the trance-like immobility of seer or seerss, as the case may be, but always in sparkling fresh water. And the fond guardian told the Judge that he had denied himself his customary number of baths in order that his wards might have no inkling of the water depression in Bristol. The Judge listened sympathetically, liberated for a long half-minute, slapped on a fine, and may have remarked to himself, after he had doffed the ermine, that the beggar told a good goldfish story.

LEST WE FORGET.

Those irreconcilables who now object so vociferously to the economic planning and industrial control schemes being launched by the administration seem to have forgotten what caused the depression. If they ever knew. The National Economic League set out three years ago to learn the genesis of that disaster, and called on a group of authoritative leaders for their opinions. The cause that polled the largest number of ballots was lack of over-all planning and maladjustment between production and consumption. Other causes that stood high in the voting were over-speculation, over-expansion of credit; supply and distribution of gold, unstable currency; tariff legislation; inequality in distribution of income; defective political and economic systems, etc.

As we have pointed out before, the latter causes may all be embraced in the all-inclusive heading, lack of over-all planning. We have been too long at the mercy of the so-called business cycle, and there has been too much readiness to submit to its heights and abysses as some sort of natural law. But with each turn of the cycle coming with greater intensity, it becomes obvious that catastrophe would be the inevitable result if the process were not brought under control. Such reconstruction for the future, and not merely recovery for the present, is the long-time goal of the New Deal. It is well to remember these things, to reflect upon the conclusions reached by the economists in 1931, that we may understand what the recovery program is intended to do.

PLAYING THE GAME.

As NRA Administrator, Gen. Hugh Johnson is paid $6000 a year. In private industry, he has been a $100,000 man. Incidentally, he is so confident of the Roosevelt program's success that he is willing to wager he will again be in the six-figure category. That aside, he pleaded earnestly with business, in his final address to the code authorities, to reduce hours, raise wages, subordinate profits and "play the game." He is in a position to make that play. He himself has played the game.

VLADIMIR GOLDSCHMANN.

Vladimir Goldschmann, who came here three years ago as conductor of the Symphony Orchestra, has earned a place in the hearts of St. Louisans. This was demonstrated by the ovations given him at the recent concluding concerts of the season. Furthermore, he has achieved a place as a St. Louisan, son of Paris though he is. The orchestra has progressed and its programs have taken on new interest under his leadership. As the music critic of the Post-Dispatch has said, it has attained to its highest level in the past season.

Forty years old, but looking younger, Mr. Goldschmann has been accused or applauded—depending on the point of view—as a modernist. This is not the case, by his own word, but he has an open, receptive mind; he accords a hearing to the new in music, while faithfully performing the old classics. For his closing pair of concerts, he chose conventional selections by Beethoven and Mendelssohn and performed them brilliantly—but had the courage to wind up with a striking English novelty never before played here and "The Waltz" of Ravel, contemporary Frenchman, which was given its first rendition by Mr. Goldschmann a few years ago. A true cosmopolitan of music—he has conducted in France, England, America, Holland, Scotland, Belgium, Spain, Portugal, Norway, Rumania and Austria—Mr. Goldschmann has graced St. Louis and we watch for his baton for years to come.

UNCLE GOT THE BOYS' BONES.

TODAY and TOMORROW

By Walter Lippmann

The Wagner Bill

HAVING found that the company union is the storm center of a large number of current labor disputes, Senator Wagner has introduced a bill which would outlaw the company union. In support of this bill, he has drawn up an indictment against unions set up and dominated by employers. It is a powerful indictment.

But what puzzles me is that he should so unhesitatingly accept the thesis that the wrongs of unions dominated by employers can be cured by unions fostered by the Government. This seems to me to betray a confidence in the uninterrupted continuation of this administration and its union sympathies which, in a seasoned politician like Mr. Wagner, is little short of fantastic, and in an old liberal incredibly naive.

The Senator's argument for his own bill ought to have shown him the tremendous dangers on the path he proposes to take. In a recent article, he said: "The company union, as I have defined it, runs antithetical to the very core of the New Deal philosophy. Business men are being allowed to pool their information and experience in vast trade associations, in order to make a concerted drive against the evil features in modern industrialism. They have been permitted to recognize the values of unity and the destructive tendencies of discrete activities, and to act accordingly. If employees are denied similar privileges, they not only are unable to uphold their end of the labor bargain; in addition, they cannot cope with any problems that transcend the boundaries of a single business."

Senator Wagner does not quite say that the codes have abolished the Sherman act, and permit collective price-fixing, that is to say, monopolistic bargaining by whole industries. But he comes dangerously near to admitting it.

That, however, is by the way. The Senator in his attempt to show that the Government should take on the task of promoting unionism argues that it has already promoted unionism among employers. In so far as that is true, it must not be forgotten, however, that when the Government brings the employers together, it imposes a code upon them. The question then arises whether the Senator will go through with the logic of his analogy and impose codes upon labor unions. There is no evidence in his bill that he has any such idea. It is well that he should not. For what could be more dangerous to the liberties of wage earners than a system of codes of fair labor practice, written in a Government bureau and enforced in the Federal courts? The Senator has wisely abstained from any such dangerous nonsense. But by his bill he is, I believe, opening the door wide to just such dangerous nonsense. For let us not deceive ourselves. If the Government makes it its business to create unions, to foster them and guide them, it will be come responsible for what they do. Let there be a series of great strikes in the vital services, and how is the Government to resist the clamor that it must control what it created?

This is not the conjuring up of a theoretical danger. This is the logic of all experience. Wherever the Government has created or permitted a monopoly, it has sooner or later been forced to regulate that monopoly. That is illustrated by the public utilities. If now, under NRA, it creates or tolerates industrial monopolies, it will inevitably be compelled to regulate them. If it goes further and actually creates labor monopolies, it will, as surely as the tides go out and come in, be driven to compulsory arbitration and other forceful methods of preventing industrial breakdowns. It does not matter how much the Senator or the President or the New Deal Democrats may swear they will not do this, it will be done by some administration, once labor unions become proteges of the Government.

In the immediate present, this bill looks like a great gift to the American Federation of Labor. It is the employers who will cry out against it most loudly now. But I venture to prophesy that, if it is enacted, the time will come, under the next conservative administration, when labor will find the bill is not a liberation but a trap which can be sprung with the greatest ease, once circumstances have changed.

The New Goblin

From the Emporia (Kan.) Gazette.

THE telegraph, telephone and radio companies are planting editorial raw heads and bloody bones in the American newspapers and magazines these days. They pretend that all kinds of calamities are imminent if the Government consolidates control of these utilities of communication under one bureau and one head at Washington. These utilities are trying to scare the press into the foolish idea that consolidated control of radios, telegraphs and telephones in a Federal bureau will menace the liberty of the press.

There is nothing in it. It is a silly scare. And the object of the scare is to prevent consolidated control. The need of consolidated control of communication is obvious. In the first place, there is more or less a community of ownership, wherefore consolidated control is the only thing that will get results so that we shall have one system of communication under one Federal control. It is wise to consolidate all means of transportation under one bureau of control, like the Interstate Commerce Commission—railroads, buses, canals, airplanes, rivers, coastwise steamers, trucks and pipe lines. Similarly, all agencies of communication should respond to one Federal control, and the sooner it is done the better.

The liberty of the press has nothing to do with it. That is just a cockeyed pastboard goblin flapping its paper wings across the path of progress.

The Auto Strike Threat

From the Washington Post.

THE automobile industry is at present one of the bright spots in the recovery picture. Just for that reason, a serious strike there would be a tremendous setback, not merely to the administration program but also to the nation as a whole. The fact that employers and employees are in a mood to risk forfeiture of the profits and wages that increased business activity has brought is a significant indication of the importance which they attach to the questions at issue.

There is a disposition to assume that the present controversy lies between the A. F. of L., claiming to represent labor, and employers who refuse to recognize the representative status of that organization. Charges of intimidation by the former are met by passionate counterblasts from the latter, and in the acrimonious interchange, fundamentals are being lost to sight.

The law provides that workers shall be absolutely free to determine how and by whom they shall be represented. There is no question that employers exercising pressure upon their employees in this respect are acting unlawfully. Equally illegal, of course, are coercive tactics on the part of outside labor organizers.

If all parties agree to obey the law, however, certainly voting methods can be devised to assure fair elections to determine what the employees want. The implications of Article 7A of the Recovery Act cannot be obscured by statements from management which emphasize the shortcomings of the union policies and pay no attention to the many constructive aspects of independent labor organization.

But improvement of the electoral machinery for testing the wishes of employees would not guarantee a decision in either the interests of the industry immediately concerned or of the workers themselves. Labor must not only be in a position to negotiate freely and fearlessly. It must also be organized with reference to the needs of the industry concerned and those of the country as a whole.

This problem of organization requires the closest study and deliberation if powerful capital and labor groups are to deal effectively with one another. In the automobile industry, for example, the question of setting up a form of organization adapted to the requirements of the industry has long delayed unionization. Some years ago, General Motors offered to permit the A. F. of L. to organize some of its plants, provided that jurisdictional quarrels would be avoided. The craft unions represented in the industry are said to have been indifferent to this eminently fair proposal.

There is other evidence to indicate that the alleged hostility of the employing group to independent unions as such is probably traceable to underlying mistrust of short-sighted and anti-social union practices. One of the first aims of a temporary trust in the automobile industry, therefore, should have been securing of organized labor of those guarantees which are implied in any move toward nation-wide development of the closed-shop principle. Such power in the hands of those who have not demonstrated adequate responsibility would be unthinkable.

HOPE FOR PEACE.

From the Boston Transcript.

It is hard to see how any country in Europe can start a war without borrowing money from the United States to pay for powder and shot. So, if the general European war waits for us to develop a lending mood, perhaps the thousand years of peace is nearer than we dared to dream.

The DAILY MERRY GO ROUND

By BREW PEARSON and

WASHINGTON, March 21.

REPUBLICAN leaders, languishing on the sidelines during most of the first New Deal year, now are smiling broadly. They think that with the beginning of his second year, Roosevelt luck has turned.

Shipping and air mail scandals had the Republicans backed into a corner. Roosevelt's lightning investigation of CWA grafts proved they were getting ready for a good campaign issue, his housecleaning of Democratic lawyer-lobbyists just two steps ahead of a Republican expose, all had them baffled. The leaders in Congress had figured that the best way for them to do was to "follow Roosevelt" until next election day.

But now they think the swing of the perennial political pendulum has started. And if there are any more breaks like the Lindbergh-air mail-sugar fiasco, they may be right.

Speed—one of Roosevelt's great assets in moulding a recovery program—now has given the Republican opposition its first foothold. An enthusiastic impetuosity was at the root of all of the recent mistakes. If Roosevelt had moved a little slower, the Republicans still would be trying to forget Walter Brown and his air mail awar.

As it is, they now are anxious to remember the air mail. Most exultant of all is Walter Brown's own personal organization, the Republican Federal Association. These are ex-officio holders under Hoover gathered together by the industrious Walter after the G. O. P. exodus last spring.

Two of his henchmen head the outfit. They are Arch Coleman and J. Irving Glover who were First and Second Assistant Postmasters-General under Brown. Says Coleman:

"Jim Farley has spent $50,000 through his Postal Inspectors trying to get something on Walter Brown. He has sent snipers to all parts of the country trying to run down every sort of rumor, but they haven't got a thing. Put this with the Airway sugar fiasco and I wonder who's laughing now?"

Abandoned.

HARD-WORKING Secretary Henry Wallace is planning to abandon his ambitious program for reducing dairy products.

Widespread farmer and consumer opposition to Wallace's plan of slaughtering milk cows is the reason. Farmers' claim under-compensation, not over-production, is the root of the dairy problem. Dr. Hazel Etiebeling, head of the Bureau of Home Economics in Wallace's own department, estimates that 15,000,000 gallons of milk are needed to give the country the milk it should consume.

What the Government should be doing, critics claim, is to make milk cheaper, thereby more available to the millions of needy who cannot afford to buy enough of it now. The blow-up of his program leaves Wallace in a trying quandary. For the time being he has nothing to substitute for the plan of curtailing production.

Meanwhile the dairy situation is becoming acute.

AUTO MEN DEFY LAW, DECLARES NORMAN THOMAS

Their Stand "Contemptuous," He Says, Telling How He Would Meet Threatened Strike.

By the Associated Press.
CLEVELAND, O., March 21.—In reply to the question, "What would you do tomorrow in connection with the threatened automobile strike?" Norman Thomas, former Socialist candidate for President, declared: "I should not allow such bold and contemptuous defiance of the law by the automobile manufacturers."

This question was put by Dr. Jacob C. Meyer of Western Reserve University at a forum discussion here last night.

The same question drew from Harry F. Payer, Cleveland attorney and member of the Foreign Trade Department of the Reconstruction Finance Corporation, a retort that Thomas did not help matters any "by making demagogic attacks on someone who is trying to do something."

To Payer's statement concerning "demagogic attacks" Thomas retorted, "that's just rhetoric, young man. Why don't you talk about facts?"

Thomas declared automobile manufacturers had discharged men for no other reason than union membership, and declared "I should use the licensing power of the NRA to force the manufacturers to recognize the right of employees to bargain collectively through their chosen unions and then to sit down and talk things over with these unions."

Payer and Thomas then engaged in an exchange in which Payer asserted "under your Socialism the worker would not have the power to strike. Under our Democracy he has the power to strike."

Thomas replied: "I hope you'll remind some of the authorities of that, because it seems to me I've heard talk of putting a stop to the strike."

When Payer asked Thomas if he would substitute his judgment for that of "Thousands of stockholders," the latter replied "gladly," and termed the stockholders "God's own fools," saying they lacked judgment.

Others who took part in the discussion of "The coming social order," were Dr. Arthur H. Compton of Chicago University, 1927 winner of the Nobel prize; Dr. A. Eustace Haydon of the University of Chicago, and Dr. Henry M. Busch, associate director of Cleveland College.

SENATE GROUP APPROVES RATES OF HOUSE TAX BILL

tate taxes to a maximum of 50 per cent if valued at more than $10,000, 40 per cent if valued at less than $10,000, and 30 per cent if valued at less than $5,000.

A proposal by Senator La Follette (Rep.) Wisconsin, to raise the estate levies to a maximum of 60 per cent was rejected.

The committee eliminated the House provision repealing the 2-cent bank check tax Jan. 1, 1935, and allowed the present law, wiping out the levy July 1, 1935, to stand.

Secretary of the Treasury Morgenthau laid a proposal before the committee for a reduction in the tax on 10-cent packages of cigarettes from 33 to 27.5 cents a thousand. A hearing on this will be held later.

The committee yesterday approved the normal and surtax rates on incomes contained in the House revenue bill after rejecting a proposal by Senator La Follette which would have boosted both schedules 50 per cent.

Chairman Harrison announced the bill would be ready for reporting within a few days.

The income tax rates approved provide a flat 4 per cent normal tax on all net income, instead of the present 4 per cent on the first $4,000 and 8 per cent above that, and surtaxes beginning at 4 per cent on net incomes of between $4,000 and $5,000 and graduating upward to 50 per cent on incomes in excess of $10,000.

The La Follette amendment would have raised the maximum surtax to 77 per cent.

Capital Gains and Losses.
The committee also approved the House formula for handling capital gains and losses, but added another bracket under which only 30 per cent of the gains from sale of capital assets held more than 10 years would be recognized for taxation. The House bill provided the following schedule:

One hundred per cent of gain to be taxed if asset held for less than a year; 80 per cent between one and two years; 60 per cent between two and five years, and 40 per cent if more than five years.

It also approved the principle of the House bill of taxing undistributed adjusted net income of personal holding companies and added an amendment exempting rents from such income and allowing a reasonable reserve for retirement of debts incurred prior to Jan. 1 and providing the rate of tax should be 30 per cent on income of not more than $100,000 and 40 per cent if over that amount. Several cases of beriberi, a disease resulting from deficient nutrition, have been discovered here. Scores of other "border-line cases" of the disease are being met by physicians constantly because of the widespread idea of reducing weight by dieting, the paper says.

Beriberi is a disease related to scurvy, and results in death if unchecked. Modern science attributes it largely to a deficiency in vitamin B.

$1000 BILL ON MURDERED MAN RECOVERY PLAN IN CANADA

CHICAGO, March 21.—A $1000 bill offered the principal clue to day in the murder in suburban Cicero of a tall, stout man tentatively identified as J. George Zeigler.

Four men, riding in a large automobile, opened fire with shotguns late last night and four charges struck the victim, who was standing in front of a closed restaurant on Cermak road. He died while being taken to a hospital. In one of the man's pockets police found the $1000 bill. Cards indicated he held membership in two good country clubs.

WASHINGTON, March 21.—Senate support of the McLeod Bill to pay off depositors in closed Federal Reserve member banks remained last to be heard today in the closing hearings of the House Banking and Currency Sub-Committee on the measure.

The principal witnesses called by Representative McLeod (Rep.), Michigan, author of the bill, were Senator Thomas (Dem.), Oklahoma, who has offered a similar bill in the Senate, and Senator Barbour (Rep.), New Jersey. The only other member of the Senate who has testified thus far was Senator Lean (Rep.), New Jersey.

More than a dozen members of the House have urged the Sub-Committee headed by Chairman Prall (Dem.), New York, to recommend passage of the proposed act as an obligation of the Federal Government.

It provides that the Reconstruction Finance Corporation purchase the remaining assets of all closed national banks, and all members of the Federal Reserve System, pay depositors 100 per cent at once in cash, and liquidate the securities over a ten-year period.

"A Governmental Obligation." Representative Dondero (Rep.), Michigan, urged enactment of the measure in an address before the House yesterday afternoon, and last night McLeod pleaded for support in a radio address. Both contended a governmental obligation existed.

citizens, among them our most industrious men and women, have had their savings swept away in the banking debacle. Those ten million citizens were in no way responsible," he said, "for that debacle. They are simply the innocent victims of circumstances over which they had no control. They once were the most respected, the most loyal and patriotic of our citizens."

"It was their respectability, their very loyalty, their very patriotism which has brought them low. Those qualities which deserve reward have sent them to the breadline, have sent them to the charity mission, have made them the worst sufferers of existing economic conditions. Those ten million men and women must have relief."

Wants Relief Within 30 Days. "That relief must be given them within 30 days. It can be given them without adding unjustly to the countless millions of dollars which your Government is injecting into the life stream of business. That relief can be given them by making the Government their temporary agent in the disposition of their financial affairs."

McLeod recalled the anti-boarding campaign of 1932 conducted by the Government and said "our hate was stirred up against the hoarder by that campaign just as our hate was stirred up in war time. The hoarder, you were told, and with reason, was comparable only to the slacker of war time."

"It was patriotic to put your money in the bank in those days. When you did that you were helping business going. You were helping to lift America out of the morass of economic depression."

"A Deep-Rooted Belief." McLeod said that a "deep-rooted belief" existed in the minds of many persons that Federal Reserve Member banks "offered the utmost safety" because they were subject to Government supervision.

"However, the banking cataclysm has brought a rude awakening to these convictions and this belief has been uprooted and shattered," he said.

"At the present time, approximately 1448 National banks are in the hands of receivers, with depositors' funds aggregating about $924,500,000 still tied up. Nearly 300 national banks are in the hands of conservators and have not yet been allowed to reopen. Several hundred state member banks of the Federal Reserve System are in receivership. This means that depositors of closed member banks of the Government-supervised Federal Reserve System are denied the use of around a billion and a half dollars of their savings."

Refers to Leniency. McLeod referred to the orders of the office of the Comptroller of the Currency in 1931 instructing national bank examiners to "exercise leniency" which became public in the recent inquiry of the Senate Banking Committee into the Detroit bank collapse.

IT'S A DELCO HEAT!

AND IT'S A COMPLETE, HARMONIZED HEATING PLANT IN A TRIM, COMPACT CABINET

Of course you've heard about Delco Heat. Fresh from the Delco Laboratories only a few years ago, it has already become the sensation of the oil burner industry. And now there's a new Delco Heat—a complete all-in-one heating plant that is a modern marvel in heating efficiency and fuel economy.

Uses less oil. There's no wasted oil. Combustion is complete. For instead of mixing cold air with the oil, the perfected pressure-type burner receives preheated air—combines it with oil in a misty spray... then turns this mist into a radiant flame that throws off intense heat.

The time-proved up-draft system makes the most efficient use of the rising heat. Then the intense heat generated in the combustion chamber is utilized to the last possible degree by specially designed fins that reach out, absorb the heat and conduct it directly to the water in the boiler. And what a difference that makes in sending all available heat upstairs!

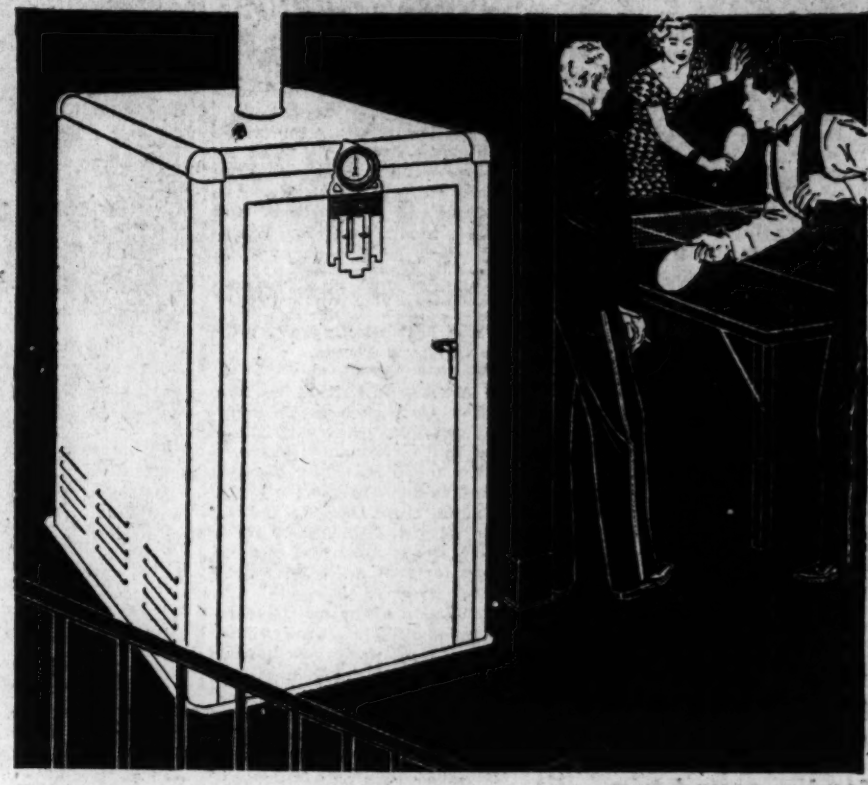

Fuel savings up to 50%

We don't have to tell you that the materials used are the best and that every point of design has been thoroughly tested and proved. You know that Delco has seen to that. To cite one example, the insulation on the boiler is almost two inches thick!

With this type of insulation, with an unusually large interior surface to absorb all possible heat, and with a positive Fuel Control to measure the flow of oil—here is a heating plant from which you can expect amazing economy. Tests show savings of as much as 50% over other methods.

You'll want to know more about this Delco Heat harmonized heating plant. You'll want to know how it burns the cheapest grade of domestic fuel oil—how it supplies an abundance of hot water winter and summer—how easily it can be installed—how it can be bought on exceptionally liberal terms. Telephone or call for this information today.

Heat rises... Delco Heat even improves on this! Delco Heat takes advantage of all the natural laws of heat travel and heat radiation. It doesn't force the heat but scientifically controls its travel upward... retains all possible heat for the home.

What happens when Coffee grows STALE?

- 1 It tastes flat—weak, bitter
- 2 It's always nervously irritating

AN ALL TOO LARGE PERCENTAGE OF COFFEE NOW BEING SOLD IS NOT FIT TO DRINK

COFFEE that is stale makes a cheerless breakfast cup. But far more serious is its effect on your nervous system. It contains rancid oil. It impairs your efficiency. It wears down your resistance—makes you easily and foolishly upset.

And the danger is widespread. Stale coffee is being sold and drunk all over the country. 56 out of 93 brands purchased were found stale, in a recent investigation which covered 16 principal cities in the United States!

How can you tell whether you are buying coffee that is fresh—or stale? Chase & Sanborn have solved the problem for you by a simple dating system.

They rush their Dated Coffee from the roasting ovens to the grocer by the same nation-wide service that delivers Fleischmann's Yeast fresh. And every pound is clearly marked with the date the grocer gets it, so that we can tell when he has had it for 10 days. And we see to it that no can remains on his shelf more than ten days. Look for this Date, yourself, when you buy coffee.

CHICAGO, March 21.—A quit-claim filed yesterday disclosed that Mrs. Ennio Fiermonte, the former Mrs. Madeline Force Astor Dick, divorced wife of William K. Dick, has relinquished her claim to all dower right and all other interest she may have in real property owned by Dick before their divorce.

There was no announcement of a property settlement when the Dicks were divorced July 21, 1933, at Minden, Nev. They had been married June 22, 1917, at Bar Harbor, Me.

Col. John Jacob Astor was Mrs. Fiermonte's first husband. They were married at Newport, R. I., Sept. 9, 1911, and Astor was lost in the Titanic disaster a year later.

The former Mrs. Astor sacrificed a $200,000 annual income and the right to occupy the Astor home on Fifth avenue when she married Dick, a childhood chum. Astor's will provided that the income from a $5,000,000 trust fund should terminate at her remarriage.

Four months after the Dicks were divorced, she married Enzo Fiermonte, Italian pugilist, who had taught boxing to the two Dick sons. Dick's fortune was estimated in 1917, when he was 29 years old at $5,000,000.

U. S. FAVORABLE BALANCE OF TRADE FOR '33 INDICATED

Services and Gold Items of $425,000,000 Offset by Withdrawal of Dollar Balances.

Post-Dispatch Bureau, 201-205 Kellogg Bldg.

WASHINGTON, March 21.—Estimates of the balance of international payments by the United States during the year 1933 indicate a "favorable" balance of trade, Services and gold items of $425,000,000 were offset in large part by a withdrawal of dollar balances by foreigners of approximately $412,000,000 and reflected in the year's net loss of $232,000,000 in gold through export and earmarking, according to preliminary estimates released by the Department of Commerce today.

Other significant features in our relations with foreign countries were a decline of 50 per cent in the estimated expenditures of American tourists in foreign countries, a continued reduction—although not as pronounced as in each of the two preceding years—in the volume of foreign investments held in this country and a record net inflow of United States paper currency estimated at $90,000,000.

Excess of Exports Over Imports.

The "favorable" balance of trade arising from an excess of exports over imports was estimated at $238,000,000, a decline of $65,000,000 from the preceding year; $200,000,000 of war debt payments, about one-fifth of the amount received from this source in 1932; and $73,000,000 from miscellaneous service items.

These items were offset in part by trade and service items which required payments by Americans to foreigners. The largest was a sum of $220,000,000 in net tourist expenditures, a decline of $155,000,000 from the 1932 estimate. These expenditures represented, in effect, invisible imports, since they consist of foreign goods and services purchased by residents of United States and consumed abroad.

Immigrant remittances of $132,000,000 in 1932 were reduced to $107,000,000 during the past year. This item is similar to tourist expenditures since it consists in large part of expenditures of American money to purchase goods and services which, in this case, are consumed abroad by non-residents of the United States.

Miscellaneous commitments, such as merchandise adjustments, charitable contributions, shipping services and government transactions involved net payments to foreigners of $166,000,000.

The net receipts, however, from these trade and service items totaled $183,000,000, in 1933, thus exceeding the "favorable" balance for the corresponding items which were $160,000,000 and $131,000,000 in 1931 and 1932, respectively.

Increased by Remittances of Gold.

This amount, owed by foreign countries to the United States, was increased to $425,000,000 by a net outflow of gold estimated at $174,000,000 and by a net increase of $58,000,000 in earmarked gold.

Purchases of American securities by foreigners in 1933 were in larger proportion to their total security purchases than in any other recent year. A majority of a representative list of American corporations reported that foreign holdings of their shares showed substantial increases in 1933.

"It may be said," the Department of Commerce report asserts, "that while numerous individual items reflect evidences of abnormal exchange movements 'against' the dollar, there has been an undoubted tendency to overestimate the total volume of transactions which may be appropriately designated as flights from the dollar."

NUMEROUS MEXICAN DIVORCE DECREES FOUND TO BE BOGUS

One-Third of Documents Purportedly From State of Morelos Are Spurious.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, March 21.—The United States Consulate General at Mexico City has informed the State Department an investigation of Mexican divorce courts has shown more than one-third of the documents purporting to be divorce decrees recently granted in the State of Morelos were bogus.

A considerable number of official signatures and seals on decrees purporting to have emanated from the State of Morelos were authenticated by the Consulate General at Mexico City, and subsequently were found to be fraudulent. These authentications, the State Department said, did not certify the validity of the decrees. Authentications merely certify to the official signatures and seals of Mexican officials appearing on documents.

The State Department announced that American citizens may have the validity of each decree investigated by the Consulate General at Mexico City.

The State Department received a list of names of Americans who had obtained divorces.

MORE HOME LOAN OFFICES LISTED FOR ILLINOIS CITIES

Will Begin to Function at Once in Champaign, Danville, Mattoon, Kankakee.

CHICAGO, March 21.—A John Berge, general administrator of the Illinois Home Owners Loan Corporation, announced yesterday that subdistrict officers would begin to function at once in Champaign, Danville, Mattoon, Kankakee and Decatur.

Berge said other offices would be set up "as rapidly as possible" to speed the work of handling loans to mortgage-burdened home owners.

Four subdistrict offices had already been opened in Quincy, Havana, Springfield and Jacksonville. Others are to be set up in the five other districts of the downstate—the East St. Louis, Harrisburg, Moline, Peoria and Rockford districts.

Managers of the four new subdistrict offices are: Champaign—Leland L. Campbell; Danville—Wade A. Holton; Mattoon—Tilson V. Worland; Kankakee—Fred H. Larocque; Decatur—James M. Gray.

The division of the State into smaller territories, with the intention of putting new speed into the loan machinery, was begun when Henry G. Zander took charge of the State agency on Feb. 1. The State was divided into two major districts—Chicago and downstate.

Three branch offices have been set up in the Chicago district, which comprises six counties. When the organization is completed, Berge said, seven district offices will be in operation, controlling the operations of the sub-district agencies.

No manager has been supplied for the Havana office. The office in Quincy is managed by Edgar Lummis; in Springfield by William A. Ruegg; in Jacksonville by William T. Breeding.

"An office will be established in La Salle County," said Zander, "but it may take some little time. Our organization is going through as fast as possible."

WASHINGTON, March 21.—Robert Fechner told congressional investigators yesterday that the Army General Staff so opposed some of his ideas that it had attempted to obtain his removal as director of the Civilian Conservation Corps. He added that the staff had "resented" some of the changes ordered by Harry H. Woodring, Assistant Secretary of War.

Fechner's statement, made to the House Military Subcommittee which is investigating War Department expenditures since 1926, was this: "The general staff tried to run me off the job because I didn't go along with what they wanted me to do, and I have reason to feel that they resented some of the things that Mr. Woodring wanted done. That is my personal belief and feeling."

Testifies for Four Hours.

Under questioning, Fechner conceded that the pressure to "get" his job might have originated in the Quartermaster Corps of the army rather than the general staff. Before these statements, Fechner had given more than four hours of testimony on CCC purchases, all of which he said were made through

FORT WORTH, Tex., March 21. A verdict of suicide was returned yesterday by Justice of the Peace Prichard in the death of W. F. Potter of Washington, D. C., former Yale athlete, whose body was found in a thicket a mile from here. A rope was tied around his neck and broken about six inches from the knot. A loose end of rope was found overhead in the branches of a tree. Apparently he had been dead more than a week.

WILLIAM GIBBS McADOO JR. and MISS SARAH LUMMERS. CHARGES of disorderly conduct against them were dropped in Magistrate's Court, New York, Monday, after they had spent the night in jail. Miss Lillian Knesz, on whose complaint McAdoo and Miss Lummers were locked up, refused to press charges. She said, however, that McAdoo had refused to pay a $6.50 check after he and Miss Lummers had dined in her restaurant. She also said that Miss Lummers slapped her. McAdoo finally paid the check and apologized. Later Miss Knesz filed a slander suit against McAdoo.

FARLEY ATTACKS NEW DEAL CRITICS; 'POLITICS,' HE SAYS

Questions Sincerity of Republican Leaders, "Or Would-Be Leaders" Who "Attempt to Pick Flaws"

Post-Dispatch Bureau, 201-205 Kelllogg Bldg.
WASHINGTON, March 21.—Asserting that advent of the present administration had brought confidence in place of the hopelessness prevailing before the inauguration of Roosevelt, Postmaster-General James A. Farley, in a speech prepared for delivery at a Jackson Day dinner in Wilmington, Del., tonight, defended the "New Deal."

The Postmaster-General described some of the measures adopted by the President and declared they were made possible by the co-operation of Congress and the people. "It did look for a while," Farley said, "as if politics had been adjourned."

"Now, however," he continued, "when things are looking a little brighter, politics is again being brought into the picture, not by the rank and file of the opposition party, but by a few of the leaders, or would-be leaders, who are attempting to pick flaws in the program."

What Caused Depression. Describing the causes of the depression, the speaker said "the country has been brought to desperate straits by exploitation; by centering all processes on the increase of profits, legitimate or illegitimate, until production and speed far beyond the limits of consumption, and with little or no regard to the primary necessity for keeping the purchasing power of the country at large up to the point where it could obtain what it would have bought if it had been possible to pay for it."

Farley defended his action in canceling the air mail contracts. "The simple fact," he said, "is that from records taken from the files of the Post Office Department, from the files of air mail contractors themselves and from evidence produced before the Senate Investigating Committee, it was clearly shown that these contracts were given and obtained through collusion and fraud; that through them a few favored companies obtained many millions of dollars out of the public treasury; that great monopolies were being built up by Government subsidy and that it was my duty, under the law, to cancel these contracts."

Tribute to Raskob. The speaker paid tribute to those Delaware Democrats who helped to secure the Democratic nomination for Roosevelt at the Chicago convention. He also praised John J. Raskob who was among those opposing the nomination of Roosevelt at Chicago.

"Before I close," Farley said, "let me acknowledge the splendid service rendered to the Democratic party by one of the former citizens

BRIEF STRIKE AT MOBERLY PLANT OF BROWN SHOE CO.

Workers Sit Idle Until Agreement Is Reached in Conference.
Special to the Post-Dispatch.
MOBERLY, Mo., March 21.—Hundreds of employees of the Moberly plant of the Brown Shoe Co. sat idle near their machines the greater part of yesterday, while their leaders were in conference with local and St. Louis officials of the company regarding disagreements on wages and working conditions. The "sitting strike" ended in the afternoon, and factory machines hummed again. The interruption, involving all but 150 or 200 of the 1224 factory workers, followed a smaller one Monday when 314 cutting and lasting room employees refused to work for several hours as a result of a wage dispute.

The workers are said to have demanded a 1-cent increase per case and presented other grievances involving their dislike for certain foremen and fellow workers. The "strike" ended when the employees agreed to return to work and await final action on the proposed shorter work week at Washington. Company executives told the workers they could not make a satisfactory adjustment of wages until the new work week had been decided on.

He was of medium height, about 50 years old, clad in rough clothing with leather jacket and knee-length boots.

OIL-BURNER EXPLOSION ROCKS APARTMENT; OWNER NOW USES

Coal
and Saves MORE than Half In Cost of Heating

"Don't tell me an oil-burner can't explode!" says Mr. A. L. Rogge, owner of the Graymore Apartments, 4236-40 Neosho St. "It nearly cost my wife and myself our lives to find this out—but let me tell you the story."

"We installed an oil-burner in this apartment building on Nov. 23, 1933, with the idea of trying it for 30 days and comparing the merit and expense of oil heat with coal heat. It had cost $276 to heat the building with coal during the 1932-33 season, and the oil-burner people had estimated it would cost only $300 to heat it with oil."

"But their estimate was far too low. At the rate of consumption during the 30 days trial period, our oil bill for the season would have been closer to $600 instead of $300, and in addition to this we found oil heat very unsteady and unsatisfactory. There was a continuous noisy hum, and an excessive amount of heat was released in the basement, so much so that the concrete floor cracked in several places, and in the apartment above the burner the plaster cracked and the floor warped and raised."

"We notified the oil-burner people to remove their equipment, but this they refused to do. The wrangling about it went on for several weeks, until Sunday, Jan. 14, in fact. On that day Mrs. Rogge and I happened to be in the basement when the oil-burner let go with a violent explosion that shook the whole building. It is a miracle that neither of us was killed or burned to death by the flames that shot out from all sides of the burner. The shock of the explosion affected Mrs. Rogge for several weeks."

"Fortunately none of our tenants was injured, nor any serious damage done to property, but the mess caused by the explosion was beyond description. In two of the downstairs apartments the furniture, drapes, rugs, walls and ceilings were smothered in a heavy blanket of oily soot, and of course there was oil and soot all over the basement.

"That was the end of oil for us. The next day we installed an automatic coal burner and thankfully went back to coal heat. A comparison of operating costs is surprising. For the 53 days operation of the oil-burner our fuel cost was $147.30, whereas our coal bill for the first 53 days after putting in the stoker was only $60, in spite of the much colder weather we have had since the middle of January this year. We are heating for considerably less than half with coal even under adverse weather conditions."

"We find that automatic heat with coal has many other advantages in addition to economy. There's no oily smell in the building and no greasy film accumulates on the woodwork, furniture or in the drapes. Since the stoker burns soft coal smokelessly, we feel that we are doing our part to make the city smokeless, and our tenants are delighted with its clean, even, dependable heat."

COAL'S Platform of Preference

- 1. Economy
Coal or coke is the most economical fuel. You can heat your home with either of them at about half the cost of gas or oil, or even less.
- 2. Dependability
Coal or coke heat is absolutely dependable. It is not subject to interruptions by winter storms when you need heat the most.
- 3. Safety
Coal or coke heat is absolutely safe, quiet and odorless. No danger of a violent explosion, no scorching hum and no disagreeable smells.
- 4. Steadiness
Coal or coke produces a steady, even heat. Not hot one minute and cold the next, as when the furnace used with other fuels starts to heat off.
- 5. Automatic Heat at Less Cost
With an up-to-date automatic coal burner, coal will give you a smokeless, scottless, automatic heat at a much lower cost than any other fuel.

BEFORE you switch to costlier fuels, let us give you the complete facts on heating costs with coal, oil and gas. No charge—no obligation. Just phone:

It was the first dead heat of the season. First and second portions of the purse were divided by the two horses. El Puma paid $3.10 for $2, Musing $10.10.

CUNNINGHAM TO RACE IN BUTLER RELAYS

By the Associated Press. INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., March 21.—Entries for the second annual Butler University indoor relays here Saturday closed last night with a list of 401 athletes, representing 38 colleges and universities eligible to participate.

Glenn Cunningham, Kansas mile record-holder, will run in a special mile race and his principal opposition likely will be Ray Sears of Butler, who set a new American two-mile record last Saturday.

Indiana University is sending 20 of its track athletes including Charles Hornbostel and Ivan Fugate, to defend the team title the Hoosiers won last year. Notre Dame entered the largest squad, 27 men.

The Western Conference schools—Illinois, Michigan, Indiana, Chicago and Purdue—have entered, along with Notre Dame, Pittsburgh, Michigan State, Marquette, Kansas and Nebraska.

Their criticisms and accusations against me have not been based on fact. For example, they claim I have misrepresented the number of my present squad. As a matter of fact, we have checked in more than the number of 70 boys, we claimed. We have the names of 82 on our books and that is the largest spring squad since I have been here.

WRAY'S COLUMN

WEST PALM BEACH, Fla., March 21.

Hornby Forecasts.FIRST place for the Cardinals and first division for the Browns are strong possibilities for the coming major league campaign, according to a rosy view expressed today by Rogers Hornby, New York will get something of a jolt from the veterans' opinion that the Giants are not likely to repeat their pennant victory of last season.

The Cardinals have a team well fortified everywhere, pitching, hitting, defense and replacement. If Frisch can get the outfit to deliver 100 per cent for him, this team will take a lot of beating. "I like the Cuby to win with their strong punch and good pitchers. Everything has to click for them, however," The Giants had all the breaks all the way last year. Lightning seldom hits twice in the same place. It's too much to ask all those pitchers to come through again as in 1933.

They'll get some bad breaks. The new ball may affect them. "The Pirates have a very powerful outfit. In fact, if Gibson can iron out a few balky dispositions, this team may upset the Browns. There are also the Braves. It's going to be a hard race. The Cardinals have an excellent chance."

"The Browns? Well, let's look at the race. There are two clubs which are a little better than the others, Washington and New York; the Yanks seem to be fading. If the Browns get a good break in the 1934 eleven will be a division is not an unreasonable expectation. Anything can happen to six of the eight clubs."

AMATEUR NOTES

Two more teams are needed to complete another league in the National Cornball Association. One Polk-American team is invited to communicate with Fred Gestor, 2227 Emerson avenue.

NEW YORK, March 21.—Lester Stoeffen and Gregory Mangin, champion and runner-up in the national indoor championships last week, had given the United States a 2-0 lead over France in the international team matches today but only after 10 sets of grueling ten-

It tooks two Americans nearly five hours to subdue Christian Bousseau and Andre Merlin in the opening singles matches at the seventh regiment armory last night and give the United States a chance to lead in the series in the doubles tonight.

Mangin had to overcome a one-set deficit to outpoint Bousseau, 8-10, 7-5, 5-7, 7-5, 6-2 in the opening match and Merling gave the giant Stoenen just as much trouble as he did Bousseau, winning 6-3 at 3-6, 6-3, 6-2, 7-9, 6-4.

Stoenen will team up with George Lott to play Jean Borotra and Bousseau in doubles. Tomorrow's closing singles matches will send Stoenen against Borotra and Frank

THE 5 IMPROVEMENTS

1. Whites Whiskers — and smoothes the path of the razor. The blade soils over the skin, cuts clean. No pull
2. Shows whites on the face. You can see the path of the razor.

3. Washes EASILY. Leaves no residue on the face. Doesn't clog razor. Doesn't mess up the basin.
4. Economical. It spreads easier so you can use less (about 1/2 less).
5. Protects your skin. Particularly good for dry, tender skins.

NEW RACE BILL WOULD CREATE COMMISSION IN NEW YORK STATE

By the Associated Press.

ALBANY, N. Y., March 21.—A bill designed to transfer supervision of horse racing in New York State to a new State Commission stripping the Jockey Club of most of its present authority was introduced in the Legislature last night. The bill would impose a 15 percent tax upon the total admission receipts of each track which its sponsor, Senator John J. Dunnigan, estimated would net the State one million dollars annually.

Introduced as a sequel to his recent attack on present racing interests which he accused of ignoring the sponging and doping of horses, Senator Dunnigan said he hoped the bill would result in creation of a commission which would keep the sport "free from any semblance of improper tricks or practices."

"I am very desirous of seeing men appointed to this new commission who are real racing enthusiasts," he said. "If men of this type are selected, it will eliminate the fear of a so-called 'political racing commission.'"

The proposed commission would consist of three persons named by the Secretary of State to hold office for terms of two, four and six years, respectively, from next May 1. Their successors would be appointed for full terms of six years. The Jockey Club, governing body of the sport for the past half century, would be relieved of all its powers except keeping the breeding records and stud book and issuing licenses to owners, trainers and jockeys. Refusal of the Jockey Club to issue a license or to revoke a license could be reviewed, however, by the commission at a hearing.

Senator Dunnigan's estimate of one million dollars annually to the State is based upon a 15 percent tax upon the admission price of tickets sold for all race meetings during the year. He estimated there are 180 racing days and an average admission fee of $250 a person.

The bill will be given an airing at a legislative hearing next Tuesday at 2 p. m. At the same time views on proposed legislation to permit open betting will be heard. Measures are now before the Legislature intended to permit open betting immediately and to allow a vote at the general election in 1935 to amend the Constitution so as to permit pari-mutuel wagering.

JONES TO FACE FINE FIELD IN GOLF COMEBACK

By the Associated Press.

AUGUSTA, Ga., March 21.—Under circumstances that make this golfing affair one of the outstanding sports events of the year, Robert Tyre Jones Jr., emerges from retirement tomorrow to match strokes with the pick of North American amateurs and a crack brigade of professionals.

For official purposes, it's the masters' invitation tournament. There's $5000 in prize money, including $1500 for the top professional. It's to be over the next 72 hole route, with one round scheduled for each of the next four days, at the beautiful Augusta National course designed and built under the personal supervision of Jones himself.

With a few notable exceptions such as Gene Sarazen, National P. G. A. champion, and Johnny Goodman, national open champion, all the great figures of American golf have accepted the invitation to challenge to renew a rivalry with Jones that was broken off in 1930.

The professionals have rallied in force, led by Denny Shute, British open champion, and Walter Hagen, MacDonald Smith, Bobby Cruikshank, Johnny Farrell, Willie MacFarlane, Craig Wood, Bill Burke, Willy Cox and Paul Runyan, big game money winner of the winter campaign. The field also includes George T. Dunlap Jr., of New York, national amateur champion, and Canada's amateur ace, Ross Somerville, who won the United States championship in 1932.

Jones will be favorite. Based on the old prize theory that the king is still king until someone knocks him off the throne, Jones will tee off tomorrow morning at 10:35 as the favorite in this all star party. His playing record will be no more than Runyan, who is generally the choice of the professionals to make the strongest bid for victory.

Their first day shot making good with professional arrivals, personal drama but it may not be conclusive, for there are at least a half dozen others, notably the veteran MacDonald Smith, Ed Dudley, and Leo Diegel, whose practice performances prove they are at their best.

To "Sandy" Somerville, as well as others, it appears Jones has jeopardized his chances by taking over so much of the responsibility of host to one of the biggest golfing parties in years. Bob has attended personally to detailed arrangements, joined all social gatherings and played at least one round of golf daily with professional arrivals.

Whether this was responsible or not, Jones lacked anything like his usual control yesterday and appeared somewhat concerned about his putting touch or, rather, the lack of it.

"But I won't have any alibi," he hastened to say. "I have been hitting the ball well and that's all I can ask. Some of these fellows look to be pretty hot just now and I hope it's a good tournament."

STOCK LIST DEPRESSED HEAVY CLOSE TO MARKET

Traders Generally Show an Inclination to Step Aside Pending Developments in Washington Labor Conferences.

STOCK PRICE TREND.

Advances	Declines	Unchanged	Total Issues	New Highs	New Lows
.....

NEW YORK, March 21.—The Stock Market was further depressed by labor trouble today and prices pointed downward throughout the session. There were intermittent rallies, but these failed to hold. Net declines ranged from 1 to 2 or more points. The close was heavy. Transfers approximated only 1,500,000 shares.

Although the President conferred with motor manufacturers early this afternoon in an effort to avert a strike in this industry, officials will present their views at the White House tomorrow. A compromise was generally expected in the rail war generally expected. Wheat, cotton and silver sagged. Barley recovered, however. Rubber currencies advanced moderately in terms of the dollar. Bonds displayed a relatively heavy tone.

The activity in stocks expanded in the morning, but died down later. The motor stocks led the downturn, the steel, metals and industrials generally suffered. Intermittent rallies failed to get very far.

Most of the leaders finished a shade above their extreme lows. Homesteads, on a few sales, got down 20 points. Union Pacific, Santa Fe lost about 2 each. General Motors, Chrysler, du Pont, U. S. and Western Union, American Telephone and Telegraph, American Tobacco, P. & W., Liggett & Myers, B. & O., and others were down.

Wheat declined 1/4 to 1/2 of a cent. Corn was unchanged to 1/4 lower and oats 1/4 to 1/2 lower. Rye was unchanged to 1/4 lower. Barley bucked the trend with gains of 1/4 to 1/2 cents a bushel. At Winnipeg, corn was virtually unchanged. Cotton was down 40 to 90 cents a bale. Barley was lower 1/2 cent an ounce to 45 cents.

The British pound was unchanged at $5.11 1/2 after noon. French francs were up 1/16 of a cent. Dutch guilder 6.60 1/2 and Swiss franc 1.34 1/2. Canadian dollar was up 1/16 of a cent. Argentine peso was up 1/16 of a cent. Mexican peso was up 1/16 of a cent. Chilean peso was up 1/16 of a cent. Peruvian peso was up 1/16 of a cent. Bolivian peso was up 1/16 of a cent. Paraguayan peso was up 1/16 of a cent. Uruguayan peso was up 1/16 of a cent. Brazilian peso was up 1/16 of a cent. Argentine peso was up 1/16 of a cent. Mexican peso was up 1/16 of a cent. Chilean peso was up 1/16 of a cent. Peruvian peso was up 1/16 of a cent. Bolivian peso was up 1/16 of a cent. Paraguayan peso was up 1/16 of a cent. Uruguayan peso was up 1/16 of a cent. Brazilian peso was up 1/16 of a cent.

News of the Day. Mixed sentiment in Wall Street over the revised stock exchange control bill was reflected in a sharp drop in the price of exchange memberships. The announcement was made that two seats had been sold, one for $110,000 and the other for $100,000. Last previous sales were on Feb. 3, at a price of $180,000.

Although the financial district, as a whole, saw little good in the revamped measure, in one quarter more changes, it might be made workable. Most brokers, however, were in accord with the statement made by Richard Whitney, president of the New York Stock Exchange, that "this bill is destructive and not constructive."

In addition to worries threatened over strikes, traders were concerned about potential difficulties in the steel industry which might result from allegations of the Federal Trade Commission on the subject of price-fixing.

Estimates of freight car loadings for the past week, based on the reports of some 20 leading carriers, indicated a gain of about 20,000. The seasonal increase would be in the neighborhood of 300,000. An average of about 622,000 loadings would mean an advance over the same week last year of nearly 40 per cent.

Weekly Trade Summaries. Withstanding the controversy in the automobile field, "Iron Age" found current steel production diminished. While production from the motor car builders was down, the steel industry was held up surprisingly well. Heavier orders from the railroad and miscellaneous sources, it was explained, had tended to offset recessions resulting from the automotive deficit.

Steel output for the country, the reviewed, was unchanged from a week ago at 48 1/2 per cent of capacity. Although the rate was off two points to 47 per cent, Chicago, operations at Whitely, and in the Philadelphia district, were said to have risen one point each to 32 and 34 per cent, respectively.

While Electric Power output for the week ended March 17 was 20 per cent over the like 1933 week, statistical observers again pointed out that the comparison here was 200, 21, down 4.

PRICE DROPS $85,000
Transfer at $105,000 Compar

With $190,000 on Feb. 3.
By the Associated Press.
NEW YORK, March 21. — T

price of New York Stock Exchange seats tumbled sharply today, in the first transactions since proposed legislation to regulate futures and commodities trading took definite form.

The Exchange announced that one transfer was arranged at $11,000, and another at $106,000. The last previous transfer was on February 19.

In 1933, the price of seats fluctuated between $90,000 and $250,000. It was pointed out in brokers' quarters that the dullness of trading in recent weeks was undoubtedly due to the fact that the market values, but some brokers thought the high margin requirements imposed by the Fletcher-Rayburn bill designed to restrict speculation, was a paramount influence.

The board also announced that the New York Curb Exchange membership had sold for $22,500, off $1 500 from the previous sale made some time ago.

The report also shows that there were debits to bank and bankers' accounts, $21,900,000; total to date, $1,150,000.

The New York Federal Reserve Bank today reported that it had received $1,600 from England and Canada. There was a decline in the price of gold in the money markets today.

NEW YORK, March 21.—Showing record percentage gain over last year, power output of Edison Electric Institute rose 1,807,000 kilowatt hours against 1,690,000 in 1933.

The period covered the first nine months of the current year.

The 50 per cent rise over the previous year was reported by the institute in year to year comparisons, partly explained by the fact that companies which had suffered from losses in the sharply downward trend following the crash of 1929, had recovered in various weeks' rise of 18.4 per cent also partly attributable to the fact that situation improved in the latter part of 1933.

Edison's total production rose 18.2 per cent over the 1933 figure against 1,690,000 kilowatt hours in 1933.

Middle Atlantic area up 14.7 against 14.3; central industrial, up 14.7 against 14.3; southern industrial, up 14.7 against 14.3.

STOP THAT COLD THE FIRST DAY!

A cold once rooted is a cold of danger! Trust to no makeshift methods. A cold, being an internal infection, calls for internal treatment. A cold also calls for a COLD remedy and not a preparation good for a number of other things as well.

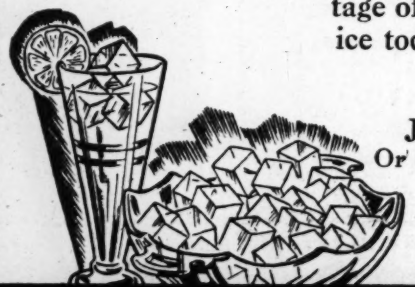

Grove's Laxative Bromo Quinine is what a cold requires. It is expressly a cold remedy. It is internal and direct—and it does the four things necessary. It opens the bowels, combats the cold germs and fever in the system, relieves the headache and grippiness and tones and fortifies the entire system. Anything less than that is inviting trouble. Get Grove's Laxative Bromo Quinine at any drugstore, 30c and 50c. Ask for it by the full name and accept no substitute on any pretext.

At City Hospital Mr. and Mrs. Hall were found to have skull injuries. She also had a pelvic injury and a fractured ankle.

KNAPP-MONARCH CO. LABOR HEARING SET FOR FRIDAY

Regional Board to Attempt to Settle Dispute Which Caused Belleville Strike.

The St. Louis Regional Labor Board will hold a hearing at the office of the Knapp-Monarch Co., 9300 Carbon street, Belleville, at 4 o'clock Friday afternoon, in an effort to settle the dispute which caused the strike of 500 employees a month ago.

The company denies the charges of employees that it has interfered with the choice of workers in determining which of two unions should represent them in collective bargaining. The 500 employees returned to work after a week, when it was agreed the controversy would be submitted to the Regional Labor Board.

Theodore Herkert, secretary of the company, announced Monday that the company, which manufactures electrical supplies, intended to move its plant from Belleville as a result of intermittent labor disputes the last several years.

$42,153 IN SUBSCRIPTIONS TO BOY SCOUT CAMPAIGN

Webster Groves Police Chief Speaks at Fifth Report Luncheon.

Andrew McDonnell, chief of police of Webster Groves, was the speaker at the fifth report luncheon of the Boy Scout fund campaign at Hotel Statler today. The campaign is for money to meet the 1934 budget of the St. Louis Council.

Clarence H. Poindexter, city campaign chairman, declared last night that the universal acceptance of the Boy Scout movement in St. Louis, without criticism, constituted a handicap to the 1200 solicitors.

St. Louisans don't seem to realize that the Boy Scout movement has been thrown on its own," he explained. "Because the movement has always been strong in St. Louis, they feel that it will continue its progress without aid."

A total of $42,153 has been subscribed in the campaign for $139,000.

The council held that the local water and light plant, owned by the city, was non-profit making and therefore exempt from the tax.

MONTGOMERY, Ala., March 21.—Commutation to life imprisonment of the death sentence was ordered by Gov. E. B. Miller yesterday for Willie Peterson, Negro, convicted of the murder of Miss Augusta Williams of Birmingham.

"The testimony is in strikingly strong conflict," said the Governor, "as to whether Willie Peterson or another committed this heinous offense. There is grave doubt as to his guilt." Peterson, in Kilby prison, is reported dying of tuberculosis. He was to have been electrocuted March 30.

Spring Is Here. And, Not So Gay. What's Coming Next? Gang Ethics.

By ARTHUR BRISBANE. (Copyright, 1934.)

SPRING began officially today at 2:23 a. m., Eastern standard time, according to Government meteorologists, and spring began none too cheerfully, with a great strike in the automobile business threatening to check prosperity in its feeble upward climb, and endanger the livelihood of 2,000,000 men.

The country has had five years fighting depression. If it must now have five years fighting strikes, and, perhaps, wind up as other countries have done, under some form of dictatorship, the only thing is to say that the judgments of the Lord are always good and righteous altogether. Men get what they deserve in the way of wars, government, corrupt finances and strikes.

It is the right of the men that plan the strike to stop working if they want to. Nobody questions that. It is their right to organize, choose and follow their leaders, just as capital organizes and chooses and follows leaders who have led organized capital into the ditch.

Capital, with the cunningest corporation lawyers to lead, advise and tell it how to dodge the law, letting the little man carry the load, could not tell capital how to avoid the consequences of its own grasping foolishness.

Union labor will find that leaders advising boldly today "take everything, run everything, control everything even if you didn't create it and could not possibly manage it successfully," will not be able to tell labor how to get jobs, bring back prosperity, put men to work, and restore normal conditions. Too much grasping ends in disaster, no matter who does the grasping.

Dictatorship and Fascism hold Italy, Turkey, Russia, Germany, and threaten France and England. There is no reason why something similar should not come here in the wake of industrial chaos. If it does come, it will appear in a shape that will not please either capital or labor—capital which wishes comfort, luxury and increasing profits, and labor that wants to rule comfortably out of harm's way, through union politics, and would have no stomach for the game as Mussolini and Hitler and Stalin play it.

Workers should think over carefully the results of a gigantic strike at this time, for, if things go wrong, they, and not their leaders, will pay the Piper.

The French Government, disturbed by recent riots caused by financial corruption, in which Government officials shared, worries about unemployment, although, compared with ours, French idleness amounts to nothing. Young men leaving the army are invited to re-enlist, and not swell the ranks of the idle, and men out of work who have been in the army during the last five years, which means practically every second man under 40 in France, is invited to go into the army until times get better.

Men in the French army work on roads and other public projects. Sometimes they are used in a way which would horrify labor in this country, as strike-breakers in case the employees of the Government-owned railroads go on strike. In fact, French strikers have been conscripted and ordered to work, or be shot. The Government is able to take care of them for a trifle, feeding them for less than 20 cents a day. Paying them 2 or 3 cents a day as wages.

In France, our United States system of putting the idle to work at prices higher than were paid before would seem like a benevolent Rothschild or Rockefeller suddenly gone crazy.

Attorney-General Cummings asks Congress for new legislation to help crush the crime underworld, and will hope that Congress will consider the bill. The official statement that organized crime "has more people under arms than there are in the army and navy of the United States." It not only has more people under arms than the army and navy, it has more some in the army and navy in and around New York City alone.

It may interest you, if you expect to be kidnaped or hear that some kidnaping crowd are worse than the others. The Attorney-General says the Touhy gang in the Middle West, its leaders now jailed for life, was about the worst, because it was "notorious for torture." The Capone organization, according to the Attorney-General, headed now by Murray Humphrey since Al Capone is in Atlanta prison, is "of a much higher type." Successors of Capone, says the Attorney-General.

'World Fair' Is Now Ready For the Films

W. K. Howard to Direct—
Lionel Barrymore in 'Treasure Island.'

By Louella Parsons

HOLLYWOOD, March 20. (U.P.)—The Robert R. Ritten, author of "World's Fair," to talk story with W. K. Howard, before he hops the Conti Savoie for a vacation in Italy. Bob, everyone says, will take Glenda Farrell with him and it will be their honeymoon trip.

Frank Capra has led the race for good pictures for the past few years.

Lionel Barrymore has been in the picture business 25 years, yet his greatest success has come within the past five years. He is just back from a personal appearance tour and is now getting ready to go into "Treasure Island." Wally Beery, Jackie Cooper and Otto Kruger are in the cast.

Warner Brothers, more than any company I know, keep the same lineup in their big pictures. In "Dames" we will have almost the identical cast of "Gold-Diggers of 1933." There is Joan Blondell who was today signed for the lead by Hal Wallis. Ruby Keeler, Dick Powell, Ruth Donnelly and Guy Kibbee.

Charles Rogers and Paramount will soon bid each other a fond farewell. The Rogers contract has four more pictures to go and then Charlie will say "adiou" and produce independently with his releasing plans to be announced later.

Like all Hollywood separations, the Merion Geringers are calling theirs a matrimonial holiday. Of course, we don't want to be pessimistic, but nine of ten of these separations end in the divorce courts. This may be the exception, but friends close to the Geringers doubt it.

In case you would like to know Lyle Talbot is on the Columbia lot emoting opposite Grace Moore in "One Night of Love." He has been borrowed from Warner Brothers. Philip Reed, who is Marion Nixon's steady company these days, is also a loan from Warner for "Affairs of a Gentleman" at Universal. That makes it very nice because Marian has been checked in at Uncle Carl's.

Laemmle's studio, Marjorie Gatenon, in "Operator 13," has gone East via airplane to see her mother who is seriously ill. While she is in the East Richard Boleslavsky will shoot scenes around her.

Margaret Lindsay is none too happy over having the Richard Barthelmess picture, "The Old Doll House," go into production ahead of schedule. It means that she has to hand that cherished lead over to Ann Dvorak. However, she is promised a good break which she is well enough to work. Blanche Sweet's grandmother, Mrs. Alexander, is happy over reports that Blanche's play, "Wife Insurance," opened and was well received.

If you are troubled with water-bugs gathering around the sink, once each week pour a cup of kerosene down the drain and do not run the water until about a half hour afterward. The bugs will disappear very quickly.

Who Said:

You've heard these sayings many times, of course, but do you know who said them first?

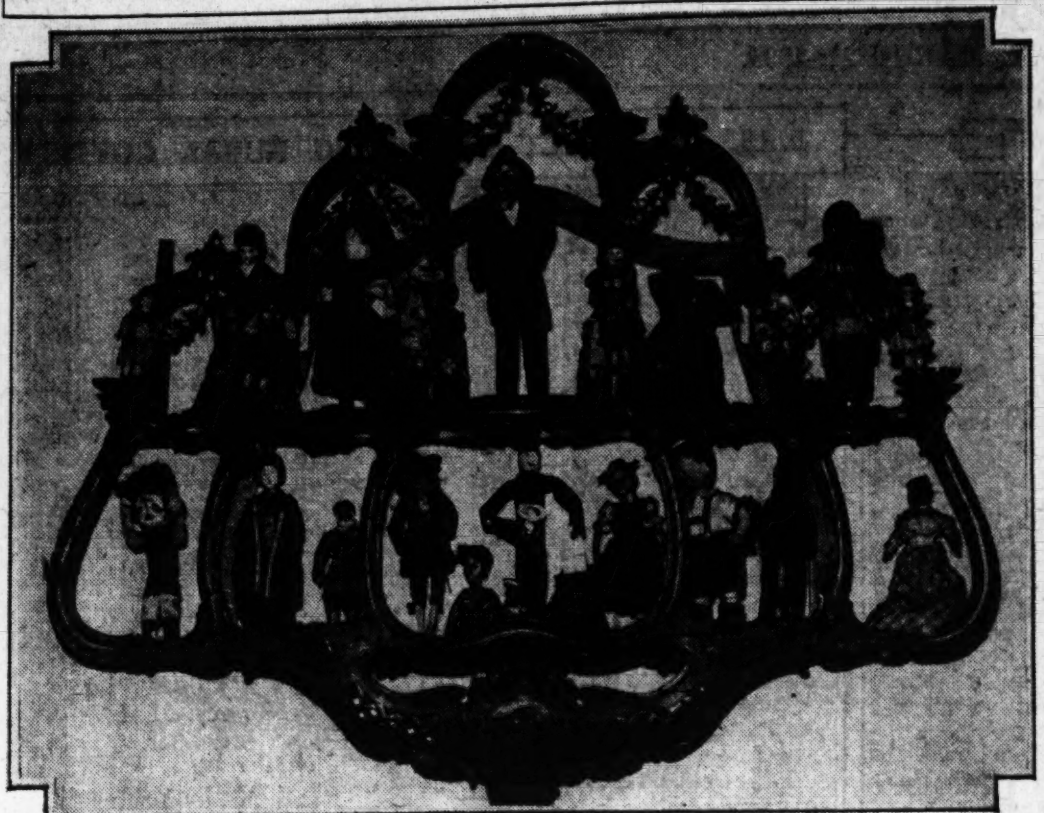

- 1—"The devil take the hindmost."
- 2—"Much water has gone over the mill."
- 3—"Bread is the staff of life."
- 4—"Possession is nine points of the law."
- 5—"Drink to me only with thine eyes."
- 6—"I will find a way or make one."

SPARE TIME IDEAS--By Josephine Walter

WHAT with all this new leisure, enforced and otherwise, there has been a great deal of talk about hobbies and how they can brighten our lives with interest. But have you ever considered the decorative possibilities of many hobbies and how they may be used to brighten our homes as well as our lives?

Every room should, if possible, have some focal point to decorate around, some sustained color scheme to make it a unified whole and some decorative objects which give an individual character to the room, no matter how common-place the furnishings may be. Certainly, the latter is extremely helpful in focusing the attention in a room where the other two are inadequate or lacking.

There are, of course, any number of collecting hobbies which add interest to the room in which they are placed. Etchings, water colors and other types of pictures, when uniformly framed provide the interest that might be lacking in walls or wall paper. A collection of porcelains, snuff boxes or similar objects frequently add a touch of color which is needed to brighten up an interior.

The picture shown illustrates just how a quite "unimportant" and inexpensive hobby, if properly presented can be the focal point of interest for a room. The collection contains dolls which are dressed in the native costumes of the land from which they come. The very lovely Venetian display rack was originally intended to hold a collection of fine china but it serves admirably for its present purpose. This collection, placed in a small dressing room, provides the focal point of interest in a room which would be, otherwise, just a "room."

Q. Will you please suggest a color scheme for a little girl's nursery? The woodwork is cream and the furniture maple?

A. Such a room offers unlimited possibilities and indeed you might use practically any colors which you care for personally. However, I think a blue and yellow scheme always is charming and refreshing for a little girl's room and it combines exceptionally well with maple furniture. Walls of blue would provide an excellent background for curtains of yellow organdy, or, if two pairs of curtains are desired, the underneath ones might be of blue organdy tied back and the top ones of yellow hanging to the floor. Or curtains of either tone in a soft voile might be used with big ribbon bow tie-backs in the contrasting color. There are a host of charming and inexpensive changes combining these two colors which might be used for upholstery a tiny wing chair and you can undoubtedly also find hooked rugs in these tones which will have such youthful patterns as dogs or boats worked in them.

Q. We have made a game room in our basement but are at a loss when it comes to doing the floor. It is of cement and we do not care to buy a rug or cover it. Could you offer any suggestion?

A. Why not spatter it in imitation of a wood floor? Of course, the floor must first be painted with a very coarse paint brush and, when it is filled with paint, tap it against a round stick about a foot and a half in length. The spattering may be done in one or more colors and should be done before the floor paint is quite dry so that it sinks in and will not wear off.

Q. I have an old family portrait which is beginning to crack very badly. Can you tell me how this painting could be preserved?

A. First wash the picture with a very pure soap and water to clean the surface. Then apply a thin coat of varnish made by mixing Copal varnish or Hawthorne medium half-and-half with turpentine. You might use Poppy oil instead.

THE Americans named Switz, looked up in Paris as spies, have confessed. Mrs. Switz's hair was found in a film package sent to Switzerland. Comparing the hairs was intelligent. Finger prints were found on the negatives.

Mr. Switz was stripped naked, his whole body gone over with acids to make sure that there were no spy messages written on his skin in invisible ink. This was a favorite way of sending messages by spies in the big war. The French lawyer of the Switzes advised them to confess. They did, and he retired from the case.

The Judge, sitting between husband and wife, keeping them apart, each at one end of long table, would not allow them to embrace. Said he, "Sit down, tell your whole story now. This is no time for love." The French go about their business determinedly, and keep at it. When the American Switz, whose wife is a Vassar College graduate, faintly under questioning, the French put him under a cold shower, gave him a hypodermic injection, and he went on talking.

If the Americans were really engaged in spying, it was, of course, not on behalf of the United States, which, in international military affairs, is as innocent as a babe unborn, would not know what to do with foreign military secrets if it had them, does not even take the trouble to keep its own military secrets to itself.

Lenin's Tomb To Appear on Soviet Stamps

Newest French Issue Also Received — Marks Radical Change in Designs.

FRANCE's newest stamp contribution, previously heralded, has arrived at last. So far only one design of the new issue has been received, that to be used on foreign mail and bearing a face value of a franc and a half.

It shows a dove in flight bearing an olive branch with a solid blue background. Lettering extends along either side and across the bottom, with the value in large figures just under the bird. The stamp marks a somewhat radical change in design for French adhesives.

New Russian Sets.
The tenth anniversary of the erection of Lenin's tomb in Moscow is being commemorated by a set of five stamps, 5 to 35 kopeks, from Russia. Each has the same design, with the tomb in the foreground and a clock tower in the background.

Here and There.
One of the designs announced for the centenary issue of St. Helena was "Lot and His Wife." This puzzle many stamp collectors, who could not see any association between this British colony and the Biblical story. It was later explained that "Lot and His Wife" does not refer to the Bible story, but to two mountain peaks in St. Helena.

A protest has been sent to the Universal Postal Union convention at Cairo, Egypt, against the announced intention of Russia to issue an anti-religious series of stamps. The International Philatelic Federation, which made the protest, expressed the hope that if such an issue is made by Russia, its use in international correspondence will be forbidden by the Universal Postal Union.

Stamp societies and philatelic organizations throughout the country are voicing protests against certain United States postage stamps which are being protested against.

are the Byrd imperforate stamps and the Chicago Century of Progress imperforates. Collectors feel that this is just a method whereby the United States Postoffice Department is able to dig a little deeper into the collector's pocketbook. Some protests are being made against commemorative stamps, but collectors in general are satisfied if the stamp is intended for real postage use, as most commemoratives are, and not issued for the imperforate stamps were.

Congressional Cook Book Has Recipes by Wife of President

WASHINGTON, March 19. (U.P.)—FRANKLIN D. ROOSEVELT has contributed the following recipes to the Congressional Cook Book:

KEDGEE.
One cupful white fish, boiled and flaked.
One cupful rice, boiled.
Two eggs, hard boiled.
Seasoning to taste.
Mix fish with ingredients; add milk, if one likes the mixture a little moist; put in the oven to brown; serve hot.

ITALIAN RICE.
Two tablespoonfuls butter.
Four onions, medium size.
One cupful rice, dry and unwashed.
One-half teaspoonful salt.
Red pepper, dash of three cupful chicken broth.

Melt butter in a shallow pan; cut up onions and put in melted butter; at the same time put in the dry rice; the rice should not be washed—it may be picked over on a clean towel, as it will not brown if there is any moisture; allow the onions and rice to become thoroughly browned in the butter over a low flame; after the rice and onions are uniformly brown, add the chicken broth; let simmer for about three-fourth of an hour. If the chicken broth is not available, one can use a bouillon cube, dissolved in three cupfuls of boiling water. Care should be taken to have the heat very low, as too quick cooking makes the rice soggy.

PECAN PIE.
Three eggs.
One cupful brown sugar.
One tablespoonful butter.
One cupful Karo syrup.
One cupful pecans.
One teaspoonful vanilla.
Salt, a few grains of.

Cream butter and sugar; add syrup, well-beaten eggs, salt and vanilla; when well mixed, add the coarsely chopped pecans, turn into a pie plate lined with paste, bake in a moderate oven until firm; walnuts may be substituted.

Little America for cancellation. Covers sent on this trip will come back to the United States about June 1, 1935. There is a service charge of fifty-three cents which covers postage and handling.

EGYPT—The color of the 4m type A43 has been changed to deep blue green. A sheet of 50 of the 500r air-mail stamp has been found imperforate. Ten copies were accidentally placed on air-mail matter and are undoubtedly lost as far as collectors are concerned.

FRANCE—The centenary of Joseph-Marie Jacquard will be commemorated by the issuance of a special 25c postage value stamp. Joseph-Marie Jacquard was the inventor of the silk loom.

HEJAZ—In honor of the Crown Prince, a series of 12 values will be issued. The design will consist of inscriptions to the left and the right of the crown. The values are 1/2p, 1p, 1 1/2p, 2p, 3p, 5p, 7p, 8p, 1/2 pound, 1 pound and 1 pound. These stamps will be issued both perforated and imperforated.

INDONESIA—Another new value in the current postage series is type A6, 1 1/4 yellow green. The stamp bears a portrait of Holkar Yeshwant Rao II.

CUBA—Of the stamps with the revolutionary overprint, there were 6,000,000 of the 1c and 5,000,000 of the 2c on 3c issued. Due to a manner of printing, there was an equal number of each value with the overprint reading up as well as down.

Two and a half million each of the 2c carmine and 5c blue values will be issued to commemorate the centenary of the birth of Dr. Carlos J. Finlay, noted doctor who helped conquer yellow fever in the tropics.

DENMARK—Because of increased postage rates, two values of the "caravel" series have been issued in new colors. They are 25c brown and 30c blue.

The King's Portrait series has been completed by the addition of the following values: 50c gray, 60c blue green, 1kr. brown, 2kr red and 5kr violet.

The colors of the "Gebyr" (late fee) stamp and seven postage due values have been changed. The 10c "Gebyr" is now orange and the postage dues are 1c orange black green,

Friendship Is One Sure Bond Among Nations

People Can Be Held Together Only By Understanding and Faith.

By the Rev. Joseph Fort Newton

HALF a life ago Zona Gale wrote a lovely book of stories entitled "Friendship Village" and some of us still remember it. It was in fact a kind of miniature portrait and prophecy of the great dream of the world as a city of friends, as celebrated in the poetry of Walt Whitman—the one mighty mystic of our American land.

Was our good gray poet but an idle dreamer of an "empty day"? Is it impossible for "men" to be friends, and colors to live together as friends on this friendly earth, as all the prophets have predicted?

No, surely it is not merely an empty dream, else the future is a horror to fill us with boredom and despair—war following war, each more awful than the last, until humanity at last commits suicide.

A famous Texan was asked if it is true that all the people on earth could live in the Lone Star State. He replied: "Yes, provided that they are friends." Today the world is so small—so drawn together, jammed together—that it is possible to live together in it except they are friends.

It is not a fine fancy but a firm fact—nations must become friends. Unless they do, civilization, as we call it, is headed for the shambles and the type of society built up since the fall of Rome will end.

Not is there any hope in the new forms of society now attempted, such as communism in Russia, Fascism in Italy, or the Totalitarian State in Germany. In each the kind of reign of reason gives way to the ruthless rule of force, and the vision of a city of friends is a dream.

The only thing that can hold a nation together—if you exclude friendship—is force. Force may hold for a time but in the end it fails. By the same fact, the only thing that can bind a people together in any happy or enduring bond is a friendship, goodwill, understanding, faith.

If man will not be a friend of man, the end of the world has come, as was the word of the prophet of Arabia; and it is the truth! (Copyright, 1934, by United Feature Syndicate, Inc.)

Dear Mrs. Carr:
I have just purchased a swaggar suit and am wondering if I can wear a red fox choker with it. It ties under the chin with a huge brown and tan bow, and I was afraid if I wore a fur with it, it would look overdressed. The blouse I am wearing with it is delicate egg-shell. What color beads could I wear? I have crystals and pearls. I also have an inexpensive string of brown beads and a string of pink. One thing more—I have brown hat, shoes, purse, gloves and skin shoes. Will you advise me, please? MRS. D. M.

Some Mothers Are Selfish in Their Demands

An Effort Should Be Made to Make Them Reasonable Toward Their Children.

By Martha Carr

Dear Mrs. Carr:
Did anyone ever write you and call you "Our Mother"? If so, I agree with them. I, too, wish to be one of your "sheep." I feel that writers are just one large family, with a loving and advising mother. And I certainly hope you accept my letter in as serious a manner as I am writing it (and I am sure you will as you have many others).

I am going with a young man with whom I am deeply in love. He is well-educated, being a commissioned army officer and an electrical engineer; in fact, he has proven his ability to undertake almost any position he has applied for. Since the time lapse in his CCC work, he has had CWA jobs. He has always made a reasonable salary.

My father and the boy's father have been pals for 20 years; both bankers during that time. My family and the father agree to our marriage but his mother doesn't approve of it. I have been married since first. And since that day, I've wanted to marry without her knowledge, and just let her get over it.

This mother is well-educated and has two sons younger. Would it be wise to marry him now, as he has money saved and I have furniture, linen, etc., enough to do until he gets steady work. UNDECIDED.

The young man and his father certainly should be able to make this whimpering mother see how utterly selfish and unreasonable she is. That word "mother" does not necessarily mean the "grand old lady" that some of them picture themselves. They often do make sacrifices; but to prove they are not the saints they often think they are, they demand a quid pro quo, which places them in the class with us.

Go ahead and marry, of course, if things are right between you two. Probably this mother will try to make trouble afterwards, though she may, after the fashion of a small "settle down" and "be happy" when she finds she cannot have her own way. She is getting a daughter and a beautiful child; she ought to be big enough to see that.

Dear Mrs. Carr:
PLEASE tell me where I can obtain a list of booklets of the New York stock sales prices as sold on the New York Stock Exchange in the year 1928 and 1929. All I want is to find a few issues, to indicate prices.

There may be a financial record of this kind at the Public Library and doubtless you could get this information from some of the brokers in this city.

Dear Mrs. Carr:
I HAVE just purchased a swaggar and am wondering if I can wear a red fox choker with it. It lies under the chin with a huge brown and tan bow, and I was afraid if I wore a fur with it, it would look overdone. The blouse I am wearing with it is delicate eggshell. What color beads could I wear? I have crystals and pearls in an inexpensive string of brown beads and a string of pink. One thing more—I have brown hat, shoes, purse, gloves and snakeskin shoes. Will this be all right?

Probably you could have the tie detachable or fold it under the coat at front, if you wanted the change of the extra warmth of the fur choker.

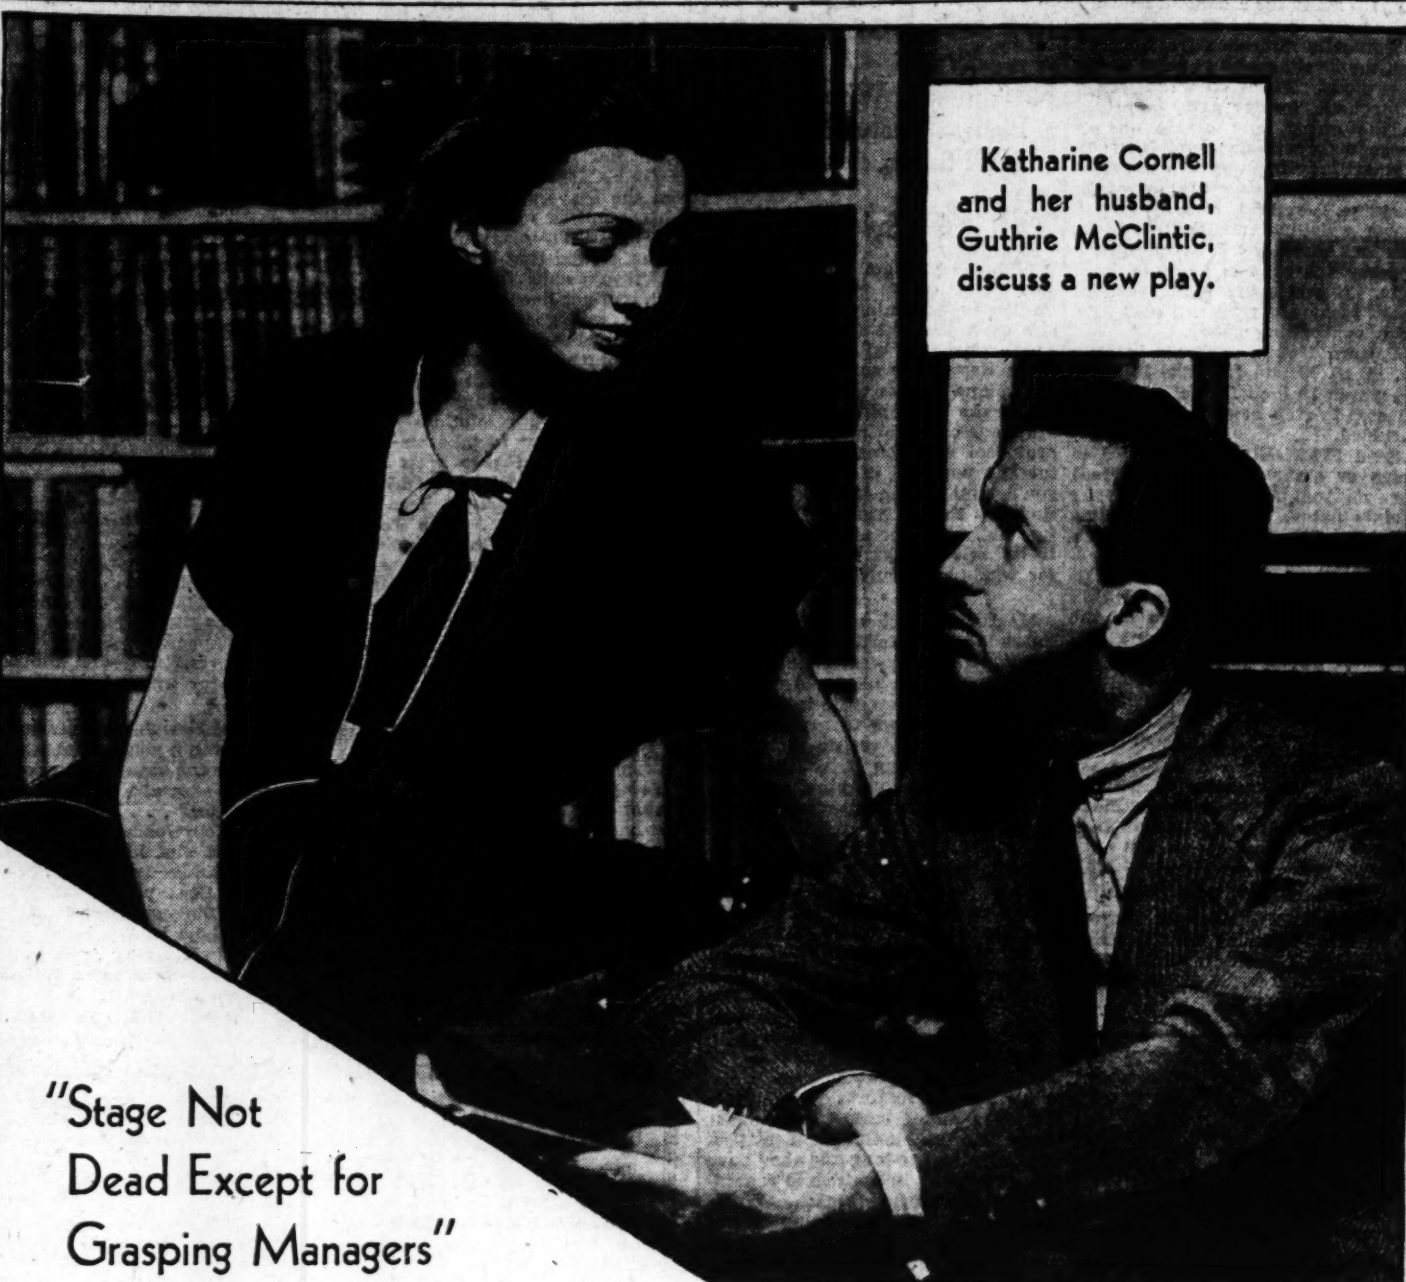

The brown beads would be the appropriate ones. Neither crystals nor pearls look very well with sports clothes. The rest of the outfit is all right—the snakeskin shoes should have the tannish-brown tone and not the gray. If you are buying new shoes, buy brown ties or chokers.

My dear Mrs. Carr:
CAN you tell me where my 14-year-old sister can take lessons in art? She would like later to get a job in one of the department stores to draw models. She is very clever at drawing and I think it would be better than office work, for there are too many office girls. Would you kindly let me know as soon as possible. MRS. G. L. S.

Your sister will get a course in commercial art at the St. Louis School of Fine Arts. Hadley Vocational may have such a course as you want.

KATHARINE CORNELL Discusses the THEATER

Katharine Cornell and her husband, Guthrie McClintic,
discuss a new play.

"Stage Not Dead Except for Grasping Managers"

THE trouble with the theater in the so-called provincial sections of the United States during the past decade or so has not been a lack of interest on the part of the population in the legitimate theater, but the fault of the New York producers of road shows, in trying to put out the "provinces" second rate companies, according to Katharine Cornell, one of the leading American actresses of this day. In the meantime Sonia had again occupied the entire chair, and had to be removed by the scruff of the neck. But Sonia did not mind, for she meant at most disturbing only half of her considerable length. She is accustomed to that, having a fancy for curling up on chairs, and traveling constantly with Miss Cornell. Flush, a member of the cast of "The Barretts," and one of the best-known dog actors in the country, was also present, but assumed a disdainful attitude over his mistress getting the most attention. Only when the discussion turned to Flush and his attainments, did he display interest, arise from his hearthstone and proudly strut up to Miss Cornell as if to say: "Well, it's about time you gave credit for your success where credit is due."

Flush being properly bought off with flattery, Miss Cornell reverted to her chief enthusiasm—the idea that the great mass of American people will support the legitimate theater if they are given first-rate performances.

"ALL the great actors of former years played for a glimpse of the country, even in the small towns that had only the opera house, and during the early part of the century people everywhere knew as much about the theater as New York. But the New York managers acquired the idea that they were wasting money by sending out good supporting companies, so they began to send out one, or at most two, outstanding actors in a road company, for which they gathered a mediocre talent. In fact, they tried to fool the audiences with bad companies to support first-rate actors, but the discrimination of the audiences."

"The result was that people went to the theater outside of New York less and less, and the small towns and cities became 'dead spots.' So the managers decided the people did not want the theater, and stopped sending out companies altogether."

"The truth is, however, that the public in the small towns is even more discriminating than in the larger towns, they demanded the best, were hungry for good shows, but they were not going to pay for anything but the best."

"And my itinerary has satisfied me that I was right, for not only are we playing before large audiences, but they are paying admission prices that make me think we will even make a profit on the tour. And our expenses are not small; it is pretty expensive to carry a company of 40 people about the country, together with all the stage settings."

EXPENSIVE and wearing. Although Miss Cornell insists that she is enjoying the theater, her large brown eyes show the physical strain. It has not diminished her energy, however, and her moments of complete relaxation were few. Mostly she becomes excited when talking, and arises to make her statement more expressive (or tug the encroaching Sonia aside on her chair). Her hands are long and restless, constantly gestulating, frequently pressed across her forehead as if she has a headache, or pressing down her very black hair, which she wears waved and to her shoulders.

She admits that she will be pleased when the tour ends, June 23 according to present bookings, and that she will be glad to go home, and "just lounge around and rest." But next season she intends to give her repertoire in New York, adding another play to her present three. She does not yet know what she will add. Perhaps Shakespeare. This is the first season she has done Shakespeare, having put on Juliet for the tour. But she likes Shakespeare, has her own idea of how his plays should be done.

"Shakespeare has always been dragged out, made too long and tiresome. Juliet is an exciting play, it is filled with intensity every moment, and I think audiences like it when it is played fast. They do not especially like it now, they have always in the past been rather bored with Shakespeare. But I have noticed a very striking thing about it. When we open with Shakespeare, where we stay for several days, the first night draws a very poor crowd. 'The Barretts' always draws a large audience, and 'Candida' is popular. But if we give 'Juliet' a second time in the same city, the second performance is as well attended as the other two."

MISS CORNELL, at the close of her tour, will have covered about 16,000 miles, and will have played in as many towns and cities as could be booked. Her purpose is to appear before as many people as possible, in view of her conviction that the theater must be national to be vital. In some places where she wished to appear no auditorium could be obtained; and in some places where that occurred at the beginning of the tour, arrangements have since been made for her performances, and she will double back slightly on her itinerary.

Her husband, Guthrie McClintic, is not traveling with her, although he is the producer of all her plays. At present he is in New York directing and producing another play—but there is no professional jealousy, she says, even though he has productions on in New York that compete with her plays. They have been married 13 years, and find that their common interests are a bond rather than a difficulty.

"We are both so wrapped up in the theater that we never have time to bother about rivalry."

DANDRUFF
Soon Destroys the Hair

If you want plenty of thick, beautiful, glossy, silky hair, do by all means get rid of dandruff for it will starve your hair and ruin it if you don't.

It doesn't do much good to try to brush or wash it out. The only sure way to get rid of dandruff is to dissolve it. Then you remove it entirely. To do this, get some plain ordinary liquid soap and apply it at night when retiring, using enough to massage the scalp and rubbing it in gently with the finger tips.

By morning, most if not all of your dandruff will be gone and two or three more applications will completely dissolve and entirely remove all dandruff and the scalp of it.

You will find, too, that all itching and digging of the scalp will stop, and your hair will look and feel a hundred times better. You can get liquid arvon at any drug store. It won't cost you more than thirty cents (10¢). We matter how much dandruff you have, this simple remedy entirely satisfies.

Healthful Drinks
Rather than permit your child to get the habit of having an ice cream cone or a soft drink every day at a fountain, why not encourage age drinking milk shakes at home? When flavored with chocolate or fruit syrups and the youngster is permitted to "shake 'em up" himself there is nothing more fascinating and mother knows no upset stomach will ensue.

Enthusiasm Is Attainable by Trying for It

It May Be a Deliberately Acquired Virtue Instead of a Passing Mood.

By Elsie Robinson

I DIDN'T know it, but I had become a wet blanket! A careless bit of chatter between two youngsters wised me up.

"Look out," said one to the other, "here comes Gloomy!"

I couldn't believe my ears. "Gloomy"? I who had always been the life of the party? It was a cruel lie!

So at once I did what most of us do at first, when we hear criticism—felt hurtfully sorry for myself! Set down and cried and thought of all the Wonderful Things I'd done for everybody. And I began to wonder. Had I been so unselfish and hardworking, and Unselfish I'd always been. And how hard I'd studied and worked—and how much smarter I was than the mean little chits who were criticizing me!

Thus, on and on, until I worked myself into a regular lather of self-pity over my Poor, Dear, Wonderful, Misunderstood Soul. And then, just as I reached the peak of my ravings, something inside me went "bluff!" And I began to wonder.

"Was it, maybe, true? Yes, it was! I'd grown to be a pain-in-the-neck, to myself as well as everyone else. Once upon a time I had been a big bang. I'd gotten as excited over cooking a new dish, or buying a $2.49 hat, as if I'd been going to China. And I'd made other people excited, too—drabber humans who couldn't get thrilled on their own."

But lately—why, I was about as zippy as a last year's waffle! Well, didn't I have a right to be dull if I wanted to be? Or did I? Was, or wasn't, enthusiasm A DUTY?

Suddenly I saw that it was. But how rarely we think of it that way! Enthusiasm? That's something like having brown eyes and small ankles. Either you have them, or you haven't. And if you haven't, what can you do about it?

That's our popular notion of enthusiasm—but it's wrong. FOR WE BOTH CAN AND SHOULD DO PLENTY ABOUT ENTHUSIASM. WE CAN NOT ONLY CONTROL IT, BUT WE CAN CREATE IT.

Enthusiasm needn't be a passing mood. It can be... it should be... A DELIBERATELY ACQUIRED VIRTUE. We can be enthusiastic if we want, just as we can be neat, polite, industrious, honest, punctual.

Nor does this imply the horrid, Pollyanna cheerfulness... than which nothing could be more faky or depressing. The only way we can ACT enthusiastic, but we can FEEL it.

Just as we can see what we want to see in life, so we can FEEL THAT WE WANT TO FEEL. There may be a score of reasons for dullness and discouragement in your immediate situation, yet, if you'll set your mind to it, you'll also find twice that many reasons for enthusiasm.

The pictures are all right, the enticing word trail, the intriguing stranger that set you thrilling yesterday, are just as picturesque, enticing and intriguing today. IF THE WORLD HAS TURNED DULL AND DREARY, THE FAULT LIES IN YOU, YOURSELF.

And you've no right to let your mind turn dreary. Cheerfulness isn't just a personal treat to yourself, or a favor you're showing the other fellow. It's an obligation you owe!

This modern world, whose convenience you enjoy, was built by the deliberate efforts of men and women of countless weary, worried, hard-working humans. In the face of incredible obstacles they insisted on remaining interested, hopeful and excited.

You're a pretty poor heel if you can't work up a little steam yourself, in the face of a record like that.

TOMORROW'S HOROSCOPE

For Thursday, March 22.

LOW down for unbanked curves. Especially in relations between the sexes and master-servant combinations. Follow the plans you made yesterday, if you wrote them out as suggested. Otherwise, grab a spar and hang on.

Iron Is Power.
Mars and Venus rule opposite houses of the horoscope, national or individual, and they represent the self and the partner. Mars is the iron in us, the backbone, the ability to act, to do, to speak, the force of applied life essence without which we could not perform—it is the iron of character in mind and emotion. It is the secret of all power, from sex power all the way up through the stages of man's many levels of living to the top: spiritual power and understanding. Misuse of any part of this power is always selfish, by whatever name it may be designated. If we would start thinking in principles instead of in petty little particles of local application, the world would immediately lose its major problems.

Your Year Ahead.
Sons and daughters, this anniversary, if they have partners (business or matrimonial) should be willing to accept advice from them Oct. 6-21 and thereafter; partner's finances look to be improving. Also your joint money. That personally earned by you may be subject to upsets and shifts, May 17-Aug. 7, and March 8-May 1. Danger: July 11-Aug. 23, and Nov. 25-Feb. 28, 1935.

Tomorrow.
Think and act in the A. M.; then the softer side, or routine. (Copyright, 1934.)

Bread or Cake A Requisite of Afternoon Tea

The Invitation, However,
May Mention Cocktails or Sherry Will Be Served.

By Emily Post

Dear Mrs. Post:
"AFTERNOON TEA" as applied to afternoon hospitality, is today almost invariably a misnomer, because "Won't you come in for tea?" might not mean tea at all. Isn't there some other name that can be written across a visiting card, to reassure less tea-loving friends that if they come in there will be tea, chocolate, cocktails and sherry. Also, you say that any kind of baker's food is suitable for the tea table. Will you please go into specific recommendations because I am sure there are some you must like to proffer better than others.

Answer: You might write "tea and cocktails" or "Do come in on Friday at 4 o'clock for a cup of tea or a glass of sherry." If you are serving tea, chocolate and even sherry you would follow the afternoon tea convention which considers that NOTHING unassociated with the product of a bakery is suitable. But the kinds of bread and cake, both hot and cold, are unlimited. Every imaginable variety of tea-party sandwich, every variety of roll or biscuit, every variety of cake—either little cakes or big ones cut into slices—are suitable, of course. Tea-party sandwiches are thin (thin means two pieces of three-eighths inch bread) spread with some sort of paste, or jam or whatever one likes. Then the bread is trimmed and the sandwich cut either straight across or diagonally. Breads particularly associated with afternoon tea include brioche, and toasted crumpets and English muffins, Sally Lunn, coffee bread, nut bread, thin slices of white bread buttered, and French pastries.

In fashion at the moment are split and buttered crescent rolls or thin slices of bread spread with cheese or butter, or sausage meat or marmalade or strawberry jam, rolled into a bolter, skewered with a toothpick; all these browned in the oven (not on a broiler) and served on a hot water platter with a cover.

One may serve every variety of cake and every variety of bread—either hot or cold—and one may add to the cake or the bread whatever appetite, abetted by imagination, can desire. Or if cocktails are to be served, then the list includes all sorts of hors d'oeuvres on either crackers or pastry or toast, as well as olives. Not forgetting New York's favorite little hot sausages, about an inch long and each spiked on a toothpick.

Cleaner Footwear.
One's feet fill not look so shabby and untidy just because they are encased in rubbers or galoshes, if the foot protection is clean. A rag wet with ammonia solution will clean up rubbers in a jiffy and a good scrubbing once a month will keep the galoshes neat and clean.

BEATRICE BURTON

CHAPTER TWENTY-SEVEN

JOHN came back into the room dragging his old steamer trunk with him, whistling "By the Waters of Minnetonka" very softly. "John," Susan said, helping him dust it off, "I'm going to tell you something that I hadn't planned to tell anyone for a while. I'm not going to marry Wallace."

"By the Waters of Minnetonka" broke off in the middle of one ripping measure. John dropped the old sweater, with which he had been dusting the trunk, on the bed and took a package of cigarettes from his pocket.

"Yeah?" he asked, waiting for her to go on.

"That's where I've been for the last two or three hours—with Wallace. Trying to explain things to him," said Susan. "John, do you remember telling me that you didn't think I was so very crazy about him?—You were right. I thought I liked Wallace a lot, but now I don't. I know Allen Sholes." She threw out both her hands in a little helpless movement as if she were trying to show him just how hopeless her case was. "I'm just wild about him, John."

"Does he know it?"

"Of course he knows it. We're going to marry each other as soon as I've got away from Wallace and Allen has finished his course at school and a few other minor details are out of the way."

"Allen Sholes," said John slowly.

"No. But I've told him I'm in love with someone," said Susan. "The only thing that worries me about him is that I can't seem to convince him of it, and I'm afraid that he'll go to the folks about it next time he comes here to see me."

"To see you?" Blank astonishment came into John's face. "Good lord, what's he coming out here to see you for if you've broken your engagement to him?"

He stopped, cocked an eyebrow at her. "I'll bet you haven't broken it at all," he said. "If you had he wouldn't be making dates with you."

"Oh, he didn't make a date with me! He simply said that he'd like to see me some night soon to talk all this over with me," Susan said in a wall. "I've given him back his ring and his watch bracelet—I've told him how I feel about him—I've made him terribly unhappy, and it just kills me—"

"Yes, I know you. You've done everything but come right out and tell him that you're off him for good," said John in his downright way. "Listen, Susan, if you're really through with that guy, why don't you go down to the telephone now and call him up—and tell him you never want to see him again? Tell him you're up! Be hard-boiled but get it over to him!"

Susan wrung the neckties between her hands in an agony of indecision. "Oh, I couldn't do that, John," she decided after a long pause. "I've got a street car that stops at the corner. It was his night to go to his law class, and Susan had a sick, uneasy conviction that he had come home early to hear what she had to tell him about Wallace. He came up to them and spoke to John, catching Susan's hand in his for an instant, pressing it hard. "I just saw Mary Cullen and she told me that you and Connie were married today—that you're going away tonight."

"Yes, that's the way things happen in the newspaper business—with a snap," said John comfortably. "I don't want to come along to the station with you. Then you can bring Susan back."

"We're going to the Cullens' first."

A southbound street car came along and they lifted John's suitcase to the platform and regarded it. "Where did you see Mary Cullen?" Susan asked herself as she sat down in a row. Mary with her clever way with men—Mary would manage to see him if she wanted to. "Where did you see Mary Cullen?" Susan asked when they were hurrying down Mills road, driving single-file through the snow drifts. "On the public square. She was on her way home and I was going to get something to eat. But when she told me about John I thought I'd better come home; I knew you'd be upset about him."

Susan's bare hand, curled inside her pocket, reached for his and found it. She was no longer jealous of Mary Cullen.

In the driveway that ran along the side of the Cullens' house stood their touring car. The kind of car that the Cullens would have—long and roomy and sturdy. Dark figures moved around it against the blue-whiteness of the snow, stowing the Cullens' luggage away in it, and Connie's voice called out to John as he hurried up the street. "Hurry, hurry, or we'll miss our train and our job and everything else."

She came running to him and they clung to each other at the foot of the front walk as if they had been separated for weeks and days, instead of just a few hours.

MARY drove the car to the station and Connie and John sat in the front seat with her. The rest of them crowded into the back seat with their feet on the bags that were piled on the floor.

All the way downtown everyone talked about the plans that the bride and groom had made for their future. "I'm going to have that library just as soon as I can rent a shop of some kind and get it fixed up," Connie said. "I think that until a woman has children she ought to have some sort of work outside her home. Taking Chantilly Soup.

Hull one and a half pounds of fresh peas. Add two quarts of chicken or veal stock to the peas, throwing in a few of the hulls, a bunch of fresh mint, one-half cup of green onion tops and two slices of salt pork. When vegetables are tender, remove the salt pork. Rub the peas through a sieve. Make a paste of two tablespoons of butter and one rounded tablespoon of flour and gradually pour on hot soup, stirring all the while. Let boil up and season to taste. Serve with croutons.

Trout Margery.

Take three large tablespoons of butter or good olive oil and place in a baking pan. Salt and pepper eight trout, inside and out. Dip in flour and place side by side in pan. Bake in a hot oven for one-half hour, basting often. Fry in butter or oil, six young chopped green onions until soft and yellow. To the onions add 12 chopped shrimps, one cup of minced mushrooms, two sliced truffles or a few chopped ripe olives and saute for five minutes, stirring all the while. Fold this all into a yellow lemon sauce and pour over trout. Red snapper may be prepared in the same way, cooking about an hour for a four-pound fish.

Mineral Salts Are Important In Body Growth

By Dr. Iago Galdston

Our high school days we were taught that the essentials of diet are proteins, fats and carbohydrates, and if our teacher was ultra-scientific, he or she probably added water to the constituents of "food and drink."

Since those days, however, we have been taught to appreciate that in addition to these four elements, there are other items or importance, namely, vitamins and inorganic essentials or salts.

The list of inorganic essentials includes sodium, potassium, calcium, magnesium, iron, copper, manganese, chlorine, iodine and phosphorus. All of these salts are essential to life. When the body is inadequately supplied with certain of these salts, definite diseases are known to result.

Thus, we know that the lack of iron and copper leads to anemia. The lack of iodine contributes to the development of goiter; the lack of calcium to disturbances of bone development and to disturbances in the function of the nervous system.

Nature has distributed the inorganic essentials fairly widely in the animal and vegetable kingdom, so that, provided our diet is rich in variety and not too much denatured or devitalized, we run little risk in suffering any marked shortage of the inorganic essentials.

The more rare of the salts listed need give us little concern. We apparently do not suffer from the lack of potassium, magnesium, manganese, or phosphorus. Iron and copper we can draw from meat and green vegetables; calcium and phosphorus from milk, cheese, sardines, sprats, herrings and green vegetables; iodine from sea foods, oysters, for example.

The only salts which we deliberately add to our diet are sodium and chlorine. Those we take in the form of table salt.

Apologies of this, it is interesting to note that persons whose diet consists mainly of flesh foods can get along without added salt, whereas those who live mainly on vegetable matter crave salt.

Add a tablespoon of borax to the water when washing light-colored stockings that have become stained from shoes and see how quickly the stains wash out.

EXPLANATION OF YESTERDAY'S CARTOON
THE EVER CHANGING LAND—The Newman Homestead, near Hollis, Ok., has a hectic history. France had it from discovery until 1763, then Spain until 1800 when France took it again. In 1803 it became the District of Louisiana under the U. S., and in 1805 was changed to the Territory of Louisiana. From 1805 to 1812 it was under the Territory of Indiana. Thereafter it came under the Territory of Missouri, Territory of Arkansas, and Indian Territory. During a dispute over river boundaries it went to Old Mexico, then the Republic of Texas, and then it came into the Union. Disputed again it was included in Oklahoma, Greer County, instead of Greer County, Texas, and then it has been in Harmon County and Childrens County.

BLACK WHITE MAN—S. H. Robinson of Greenville, S.C., was born of white parents in the year 1854. At 27 he had eye became impaired, and later his skin began to change color, and in five months he was as dark as any native of Africa. Physicians pronounced the disease as melanosis, which cost the patient's life. TOMORROW: "THE TREE MAN."

SENSE and NONSENSE

By CAREY WILLIAMS

THINGS will be normal when only articles with prohibitive prices are in big demand. America is the home of the free, but our rich men use bodyguards to evade kidnappers. The average American girl wants to emulate a certain brand of coffee—always dated. The lost city of Sheba is reported found by French explorers. Maybe, like modern ones, it was covered with debt. The youth of today all speak the same language, says an educator. Yes, usually profanity. A $21,000,000 arsenal is being erected in China. That's one way to make Japan close the Open Door. People of today do not trace ancestry as much as formerly, says a professor. Maybe they leave it to the police. There are more automobiles than telephones in use in the United States. Naturally, as you can't ride by your neighbor in a telephone.

AGAINST RESTORING ALL OF PAY CUT

Approves Putting Back 10 Per Cent of Reduction, by Next July 1, but Votes Against 15 Per Cent for Workers.

By the Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, March 22.—The House today refused to join the Senate in voting higher allowances for war veterans than the administration desires. A veto had been promised by President Roosevelt if it approved the higher Senate figures. The vote rejecting the Senate's program was 220 to 174. Speaker Rainey voted "No." Earlier in the House, by 228 to 164, it insisted on restoration of only 10 per cent of cut Federal pay by July 1 as opposed to 15 per cent voted by the Senate. The next step will be up to the Senate. It can proceed in the House action or again disagree. In the latter event, further efforts would be made by a committee of both branches to adjust the differences. The House voted to restore 5 per cent of the cut Federal pay as of Feb. 1 and 5 per cent more on July 1. The Senate voted for 5 per cent as of Feb. 1 and the full 15 per cent on July 1.

A roll call was taken on the pay issue at the request of Representative Connelly (Dem.), Massachusetts, after a standing vote of 146 to 98 against the Senate action. Senate administration leaders, after a check-up of the situation, expressed confidence the Senate would recede in the final showdown from its more liberal pay restoration amendments. The House has provided $209,000,000 for the ex-soldiers and Federal workers and the Senate $307,000,000. The House amendments were estimated to be $228,000,000 above budget estimates and the Senate's $354,000,000 above.

$30,000,000 LONG ESTATE
WINDLES BELOW $1,000,000

Will of Kansas City Lumberman Leaves Entire Property to Two Daughters.
By the Associated Press.
KANSAS CITY, Mo., March 22.—The will of R. A. Long, filed in Probate Court today, showed that a fortune once estimated at $30,000,000 had shrunk to less than $1,000,000.

The will, dated July 27, 1932, provides for a division of his estate between the two daughters, Mrs. Louisa Long Combs and Mrs. Sally A. Ellis, first setting up an independent income of $30,000 a year for Mrs. Combs during the life of a trust, to end in 1939. A paragraph says many bequests made in earlier wills were eliminated from this one because of the decrease in values. Only the Long mansion here, with automobiles and immediate personal effects, was disposed of outright to the two daughters, all other properties and securities being established in the trust. The daughters are left free to dispose of the house as they see fit.
